BY RALPH T. JONES.
France sent an opera, a master conductor and two of the most famous singers of her race to Atlanta Thursday night. Spain collaborated by contributing a glorious soprano, and Russia was represented by a contralto who sang with distinction and perfect art.

The result was "Louise," an opera new to Atlanta, but a work that won high praise in the hearts of the 5,000 and more music lovers who thronged the auditorium for the opening of this, the twentieth season of Metropolitan opera in Atlanta.

With Lucrezia Bori, most delicious of lyric sopranos in the title role;
with Antonio Trantoul, the new French tenor, displaying a finished artistry of song; with Lena Rothke singing with all the glory of the finest thing he has done, and with Iva Bourska singing a character role that was utterly convincing and new to Atlanta.

Mrs. McCurdy Victim of Attack Working at Desk

Mrs. J. A. McCurdy, 50, one of the few women deputy sheriffs in America, and widow of J. A. McCurdy, sheriff of DeKalb county for many years, dropped dead in the DeKalb county courthouse Thursday afternoon while performing her duties.

Her husband was sheriff of DeKalb county for 12 years. He died two years ago, April 22, 1928, after an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Mc-Curdy served as a deputy sheriff under her husband and performed clerical work in his office. After his death, she filled the post of sheriff until her late husband's term had expired and an election was due. However, she declined the honor with thanks, stating to her friends that she appreciated the honor but felt that as a woman she had no right to serve as sheriff.

After the election of Sheriff Jake Hall Mrs. McCurdy was reappointed as a deputy sheriff, and at the time of her death she had been in the sheriff's office for 18 years. She was a woman of a jolly disposition and had many friends in Decatur. These stated that Thursday afternoon she was in the best of spirits and seemed to be well as she went about her work on the books in her office.

Late Thursday while sitting at her desk she called Deputy Sheriff Clem Jolly and asked for information concerning some item. He went to her desk and bent over the books, and Mrs. McCurdy collapsed on his shoulder. When a physician was summoned he stated that she died at the moment that she collapsed and that death was probably due to heart failure. She was a prominent member of the First Baptist church of Decatur.
She resided at 235 East Ponce de Leon avenue, Decatur.

Mrs. McCurdy is survived by two sons, Julius A. McCurdy, Jr., and Walter P. McCurdy, and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Walker of Stone Mountain.
Funeral arrangements had not been completed Thursday night, pending advice from other relatives in Florida. Announcements will be made later by A. S. Turner, of Decatur.

Corona Has Bobbed Hair And Bans Wig for Opera

TEXAS GIRL APPEARS SATURDAY NIGHT

LEONORA CORONA.

Leonora Corona, the Texas girl who has won her stardom spurs both with the Metropolitan and at some of the most famous opera houses of Europe, was the center of much attention at the Biltmore hotel Thursday afternoon. It is her first visit to Atlanta and, with the added fascination of being truly from the south, her local opera debut is a highlight of the season's interest.

Miss Corona (her true name is Lenore Coltrane) is the daughter of a former judge of Dallas, Texas. She is a statuesque type of blonde, with curly bobbed hair. She confided, also, that she doesn't use a wig for the character of Santuzza which she is to sing on Saturday night. "Why shouldn't Santuzza have bobbed hair?" she asked with considerable good sense. "And a wig, you know, always looks exactly like a wig."

Miss Corona sang for five years in Europe, following a period of study in Milan, before returning to her native land. She has now been with the Metropolitan for three seasons. She has sung many roles in Italy, Germany and France, and is a familiar figure at La Scala and the Opera Comique.

She is, however, a delightful sort of person. Regular southern girl,
she is confident, and a delightful sort
of person. Regular southern girl,
she is confident, and a delightful sort
of person.

312,396 IN COUNTY; 353,108 IN ATLANTA

Complete Preliminary Figures Announced by United States.

Exceeding the most optimistic estimates, complete preliminary census reports of the city of Atlanta and Fulton county released Thursday by Dr.
Elizabeth Bronch, local census director, swayed the city population to 312,396.
The preliminary count of the city's population was privately estimated, indicating a final report which will approach 300,000, while the preliminary report of the county exceeded the most ambitious estimate that had been made by more than 20,000.

The gain in the county was from a population of 232,907 in 1920, or clear increase of 79,489. Comparisons of the city population with 1920 records were not available Thursday, as the 1930 census is on the basis of the greater city of Atlanta, created by an act of the legislature of 1920. Atlanta in the 1920 census was given a population of 200,016.

CHAMBER SEEKS TO BAR TRADING BY FARM BOARD

Federal Funds in Competition With Private Business Called Unfair by National Leaders.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)— Overriding the spirited defense of the federal farm board before it yesterday by government officials, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States today recommended that the board's principal powers be shorn from it, and only its privilege of disseminating information left.

Adoption of the resolution recommending amendment of the agricultural marketing act, which created the board, was almost the last official act of the eighteenth annual meeting of the chamber. It was enacted almost without debate, only one speech —voicing dissent—being heard before the vote.

The resolution recorded a "continued opposition to the use of government funds in providing capital for the operation of agricultural co-operatives, and for the buying and selling of commodities for the purpose of attempted stabilization." It asked an amendment to the marketing act to prevent the federal farm board from using federal funds for this purpose, and asserted the act was "in controversion to the chamber's proposals."

The resolution said in part:
"We recognize the emergency considerations which may have impelled this resort to the federal treasury."
The resolution said, "but the experience which has been gained now permits an appraisal both as to immediate effect and long-range results."
The anticipated benefits to the farming interest as a whole has not been realized. On the contrary there has been impairment of the marketing structure and prevention of support which otherwise would have been given to the marketing of agricultural products which were affected by the use of public money. Without benefit to agriculture there has been imposed unbearable hardships on business enterprises unable to maintain their position against the predatory competition of the government.

"We accordingly express our continued opposition to the use of government funds in providing capital for
the operation of agricultural co-operatives, and for the buying and selling of commodities for the purpose of attempted stabilization."

The resolution concluded with the statement that the federal treasury should be used for the purpose of sound and effective aid to agriculture.

Nearly a score of other resolutions were adopted by the chamber. They recommended greater public economy;
the construction of a "great inter-American highway"; opposition to the creation of state automobile insurance funds; continuation of the work of the national business survey conference; an increase of pay in the armed services; extension of federal reclamation to furnish water to already sparsely irrigated lands, and the provision of funds to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly.

William Butterworth was re-elected president of the organization, and Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board. Karl Delattre, of Minneapolis, at vice president, was the only new officer chosen.

Atlanta Man Wins $3,525 in Contest

F. S. Bedsole, of Atlanta, married and the father of two children, 4 and 9, of 1163 Ridgewood drive, N. E., was $3,525 richer this morning than he was Thursday morning.

He was the winner in a national contest sponsored by the Paris-American Pharmaceutical Company, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Thursday Ray Harrison, representative of that company, looked Mr. Bedsole up and handed him a certified check for three thousand, five hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Winning contests with Mr. Bed-sole, who is employed in the railway mail service with quarters in the federal building, is becoming perennial. Last year he won a baby grand piano in a contest sponsored by The Constitution.

'CITIZENS' TICKET' TO BE DISCUSSED AT RALLY MONDAY

Call Is Issued for Meeting To Consider Drafting Candidates for City Offices.

A move to place a "citizens' ticket" headed by either W. Rawson Collier, George West or Horace Russell as candidate for mayor in the forthcoming city primary was launched Thursday when a meeting of "all those interested" was called for next Monday afternoon at the Piedmont hotel. Charles Montgomery, insurance man, is to be chairman of the meeting.

It is understood that those sponsoring the movement intend to draft candidates for various city posts and it is further reported that Mr. Collier has been "approached" on the proposition and has declared his unwilling-ness to make the race. Mr. Collier is a prominent insurance man and comes from one of Atlanta's oldest and best known families. Mr. West is a lumberman and former president of the Chamber of Commerce, and looked upon as one of the city's leading businessmen. Mr. Russell, a prominent lawyer, is present president of the chamber.

Information obtained by The Constitution Thursday revealed that the plan to put the citizens' ticket in the field has been brewing for several months but that next Monday's meeting was called on a concerted action had been taken. It is the plan of those interested, it was learned, to enter in the various races persons who have no political affiliations and who are interested only in the city's general well-being.

A decision to call next Monday's meeting was made Thursday afternoon by a group meeting impromptu at the Piedmont. Among those in attendance were Mr. Montgomery, Roy Wynne, Joe McGrath, Ed Stevens,
Edgar Watkins, Sr., Edgar Watkins, Jr., Luther Allen, Walter McElreath and others. After discussing the situation the following statement was issued by Mr. Montgomery:

"A large number of the citizens of Atlanta have met and have called a draft certain citizens to run for the city offices and it will be the purpose of this meeting to discuss candidates for all city offices."

"This meeting will not be a lunchroom affair, but a serious business meeting. It is the purpose of this meeting to bring forth a list of names who may obtain it at the hotel."

"Charles D. Montgomery has been asked to preside and he requests all those who are interested in this matter to be present and to express their views freely."

May-June Investigation Body Expected To Take Up Probe Monday.

With the May-June term Fulton grand jury scheduled to take up the graft investigation next week, the March-April term today is expected to complete its work today with the return of several additional indictments against city officials and presentments reported equally as sensational as those of the preceding body.

Although it had been stated that the grand jury would probably finish its work and make known the results of its investigation Thursday at the solicitor-general's office were that the jury will wind up its affairs and be discharged today. Among matters expected to be included in presentments of the retiring jury is that organization's findings on alleged voting irregularities in the county commission primary and the special election of a clerk of superior court, as a special committee has been at work on the voting lists.

In addition to presentments on graft conditions found by the jury, the inquisitorial body is expected to return presentments concerning operation of various public institutions and other similar reports, since it is the duty of this grand jury to make such semi-annual reports.

Phases of the city hall graft investigation on which work has not been completed will be turned over to the new grand jury for its consideration, it was said Thursday. A committee from the present grand jury is expected to visit the incoming body early next week to report on matters to be carried over into the new term.
Among things the incoming grand jury is expected to take up is the investigation of the incoming grand jury.

Hoover Sees End Of Business Crisis

Plans Accurate Examination To Evolve Achieving of Future Business Stabilization.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—
Amid resounding applause President Hoover told business leaders of the nation tonight that the worst of the effects of the stock market crash of six months ago had passed and the recovery lay ahead.

Speaking at the final session of the eighteenth annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the president thanked the representatives of business for their share in the joint effort to avert or lessen the unfortunate aftermaths of the slump and outlined plans for the future reduction of speculative fluctuation and the control of economic forces.

Mr. Hoover told his audience that he regretted his subject needed discussion in the cold language of economics, for, he said, "I realize as keenly as anyone can that individually they are not problems of science but are the most human questions in the world."

"They involve the immediate fears of men and women for their daily bread, the well-being of their children, the security of their homes," the president said. "They are intensely personal questions fraught with living significance to everything they hold dear."

The president disclosed a plan to appoint a body of men from the representative groups of American life to make an exhaustive study of the past period of boom and consequent slump with a view to determining both preventive and remedial measures for maintaining business on an even keel.

Text of Speech.
Following is the text of the address made by President Hoover at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

"Gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:
"We have been passing through one of those great economic storms which periodically bring hardship and suffering upon our people. While the crash only took place six months ago, I am convinced we have now passed the worst and by continued unity of effort upon what I consider the most possibly one of the greatest of our people of the resources, intelligence and character of the people of the States
—that is prosperity."

"On the occasion of this great storm we have for the first time attempted a great economic experiment.
Possibly one of the greatest of our history. By co-operation between business and government we have been able to express our opinion at the polls."

A former well known newspaperman in writing expressed appreciation of participating in a poll to record the attitude of the people of Atlanta. He said in part:
"I am enclosing my vote for the repeal of prohibition 'as is.' You are to be congratulated upon offering the people of Georgia to express themselves upon what I consider the monumental fraud of the ages. I suppose I will be immediately classified as a 'drinking wet,' although I have never liberally a drop of whisky or beer in my life."

Still another letter from Atlanta
read as follows:
"While I heard expressed some objection to your requirement of the signature of those who ballot, I have an idea that perhaps your results will be more far-reaching than even those of the Literary Digest."
"I do not believe in drunkenness, and would subscribe to a law imposing ten days on the rock pile penalties on each culprit guilty of abusing liquors, regardless of the offender's social, political, or financial standing.
But I also believe in personal liberty."

Constitution readers should bear in mind that no ballots received after Saturday night will be counted in the two-weeks' poll, the final totals of which will be published in Sunday's Constitution. So those wishing to participate in this check to ascertain if the figures announced for Atlanta by the Literary Digest must send in their ballots without loss of time.

KANSAS, MISSOURI, NEBRASKA STRUCK BY VIOLENT WIND

Three Separate Twisters
Cut Wide Swaths Through Rural Communities.

BABY IS KILLED IN MOTHER'S ARMS

Tekamah, Nebraska, Is Total Wreck—Rain and Wind Finally End Over Wisconsin.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Sporadic storms of tornadoic strength killed at least 17 persons late yesterday (Thursday) as they raged down upon eight middle and northwestern states.

Six persons are missing and believed dead. Scores of persons were injured.

Four of the deaths were in northeastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri in separate storms. A tornado dropping out of black skies killed five at Tekamah, Neb., and a report to the Red Cross at St. Louis, Mo., said
Pender, Neb., had been wiped out.

At Lake City, Neb., three were drowned in a cloudburst as a wall of water broke down upon their stalled automobile.

Two women were killed at Hibbing, Minn., when their automobile skidded during a violent rainstorm. A Lawton, North Dakota farmer, was struck by lightning, and a man was killed at Rockford, Ill., when the high wind sent a tree crashing down upon his parked automobile. A boy was killed at Wesby, Minn., as he ran to his house for shelter.

Storms of varying destructiveness were reported in Minnesota, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

SIX ARE KILLED IN NEBRASKA

OMAHA, Neb., May 1.—(AP)—Six persons were killed and several score more were injured, many seriously, in a tornado that struck Tekamah, Neb., early tonight, and swept on to six other towns in Nebraska before cutting into Iowa.

The other Nebraska towns hit by the storm are Pender, Homer, Jackson, possibly Lincoln, Bancroft and Wal-hill, all in northeastern Nebraska.

Three of the dead at Tekamah have been identified. They are Al Brinkley, John Houser, and the infant son of Hans C. Anderson.

The baby was killed in his mother's arms when the Anderson home was wrecked. Mrs. Anderson suffered a broken arm, while Mr. Anderson's back was broken.

Doctors were hastily summoned to Tekamah from nearby towns, and those injured badly enough to demand hospital care were brought to Omaha.

Ponselle Sings Tonight.
Tonight, for the second opera of the year's abbreviated program, "Il Trovatore," with all its lovely arias and glorious ensemble singing will be offered, with Rosa Ponselle and Giovanni Martinelli in the principal roles. "Louise," a recent revival of the Metropolitan's and absolutely new to Atlanta, proved an opera of exquisite beauty. It progressed as it progressed, the final two of the four acts being by far the best. It is an opera of the modern type, more a play with music than a spectacular assemblage of vocal solos, duets, trios and chorus numbers. It allows plentiful opportunity for the art of the completely equipped and properly trained artist. It is filled with delicious passages and all the time the orchestra paints a lovely tracery of symphonic glory as a background to the singers and the story.

Louis Hasselmanns, conducting the masterpiece of his countryman, Gustave Charpentier, led the orchestra and singers through the opera with utter art and with an interpretation of the mounting emotions of the story that it is doubtful any other living conductor could have accomplished.

Bori, the divine, was in perfect voice. In the third act she sang the only sustained aria of the entire score, "De Puis le jour," with a sweetness and power that rivaled even the greatest performances of the great Bori of the past. She responded to a series of forced bows, but owing to the length of the opera, could not be induced to repeat the number.

Trantoul Wins Audience.
Trantoul, the new French tenor, displayed a wonderful technique and a highly pleasing voice. He does not have opportunity for any vocal pyrotechnics in "Louise," but he was a charming and thoroughly well-liked Julien.

Leon Rothier, old Atlanta favorite and possibly the finest basso the Metropolitan has as yet, won new laurels with his singing of the father role. Comment in the aisles after the first act was preponderantly about Rothier's splendid work.

And Ina Bourkaya, in the dramatic role of the mother, won her audience despite the lack of sympathy her part—splendidly characterized and sung—inspired.

It was a typical Atlanta first-night crowd. Happy, colorful and vivacious. There was the same visiting down the aisles between acts, the same crush to reach the lobby and a cold drink and the same hurry back to seats as the warning bell rang.

Atlanta, though limited to three days for her opera season this year, instead of the customary six, demonstrated Thursday night that the shortening of the season is going to take away nothing of its brilliance.

Opera Staff Arrive.
The opera company arrived in the city Thursday noon with all the usual welcomes from Atlanta friends and delighted smiles from famous stars as Atlanta's sunshine and green vistas greeted eyes tired from the monotony of New York streets in winter.

Tonight what is, in many respects, the greatest opera of modern times, Verdi's "Il Trovatore," is offered. Ponselle, of the velvet-toned voice, will sing one of her greatest roles as Leonora, and Martinelli, pronounced the greatest of modern times, will sing that magnificent part, Otello in the east announced include Julia Claussen, Minnie Eganer, Giuseppe Danise, etc. The Metropolitan ballet will give one of their most colorful dances, with Rita De Lejorpe and Jessie Rogge as premiere danseuses.

Added interest was attached to one member of the Metropolitan company when the special train rolled to a stop at Brookwood station Thursday afternoon. This was Lawrence Tibbett, the famous American baritone.

Famous Stars Sing Tonight in "Il Trovatore"

Story of Il Trovatore

He has gained tremendous new following during recent months by his acting and singing in that splendid talking picture, "The Rogue Song." Local officials of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Loew's, Inc., who made and exhibited the picture, respectively, were on hand to greet their new and valuable star. Mr. Tibbett hinted at interesting plans for further work on the audible screen and promised to tell more of his immediate program in a day or so.

The Music Festival Association announced Thursday night that, while the demand for seats has been heavy, there are still some excellent locations unoccupied for each of the three remaining performances. The box office at the Cable Piano Company, at 84 Broad street, will be open all day today until 6 o'clock, when it will be removed to the auditorium. Warning also was repeated that the curtain tonight will rise promptly at 8 o'clock and those not in the auditorium at that hour would not be allowed to enter until the end of the first act.

In "Il Trovatore," two sons survive the old Count di Luna. While they are both in their infancy, a gypsy woman wanders into the castle and is found by their nurse, who has been asleep near the cradle of one of the children. The gypsy is driven from the castle. From that day the health of the children begins to fail, and as people were superstitious at the times, they attribute it to a spell cast over the child by the gypsy. She is hunted, found and burned to death.

The daughter of the gypsy witnesses the death of the woman, and as she stands with her baby in her arms, vows vengeance. She steals the youngest of the children from the castle before the fires which have burned her mother have faded into embers, but in the confusion casts her own child in the flames. She hastily makes her escape from the scene with her foster son.

The gypsy brings up the stolen youth as Manrico the troubadour, trusting her secret to no one. Manrico grows up to valiant manhood, skillful and daring at arms. Entering a tournament disguised he wins all the honors and is crowned victor by the Duchess Leonora, lady attendant of the queen with whom he falls in love.

In the meantime the oldest son has acquired the title and possessions of the old count. The bones in the ashes where the youngest child was supposed to have been burnt are taken as conclusive proof of his death. The count is also smitten with the duchess and on the occasion of one of the many nightly serenades of Manrico, the duchess steps out in the garden and mistakes the count for Manrico. The latter issues forth in the foliage and the duchess implores his protection. Words follow between the two men and they agree to retire to a secluded spot to fight a duel. Manrico has the count at his mercy but does not take his life.

Manrico joins the army and in a battle is left on the field for dead. The gypsy finds him and nurses him back to health. After his recuperation he saves the life of the duchess from the forces of the count as she is preparing to take the veil at a convent in the neighborhood of Castellar, thinking Manrico is dead. Manrico takes her to Castellar which is besieged by the forces of Count di Luna and is preparing to wed her the next day.

The gypsy is captured by the count and Manrico, with a chosen squad, makes a sortie to effect her rescue but his forces are routed and himself taken prisoner. The duchess effects her escape. The prisoners are taken to the capital of the province and the duchess appears offering the count her hand in marriage in return for Manrico's life. But the count orders her thrown into prison, but before her incarceration she takes poison which she has concealed in a ring. After it takes effect, Manrico, who has refused his liberty, stating that Leonora has betrayed his affections, is executed.

The gypsy, awaking from a stupor, tells the count he has killed his brother, exclaiming "Mother, thou art avenged," and falls lifeless.

Woman Injured Speeding To See Her Sick Mother

Speeding to the bedside of her mother who was believed to be dying in Roswell late Thursday night, Mrs. C. W. Miller, of Riverside, and three companions were injured when the car in which they were riding, driven by a fifth person, Joe Martin, of Roswell, overturned three times when rounding a sharp curve at Bolton. Mrs. Miller suffered many cuts and bruises and a possible fracture of her right shoulder while her husband was cut severely about the head. Her brother, J. W. Morgan, of Roswell, and John Walters, also of Roswell, were cut about the head and face. Martin, the driver, was uninjured. All were brought to Grady hospital by an Ed Bond & Condon ambulance and after treatment were discharged. The party was en route to the bedside of Mrs. H. E. Morgan, of Roswell, who had suffered an attack of paralysis.

Some of Atlanta's greatest favorites among the opera stars will sing roles in which they won much of their fame in "Il Trovatore," tonight's offering by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the auditorium. Above, at upper left, is Giuseppe Danise, the popular baritone, who will sing the role of Count di Luna. Upper, center, is Giovanni Martinelli, greatest dramatic tenor of them all, who sings the leading male role of Manrico. At upper right is Julia Claussen, the magnificent contralto, who will be the Arucena. Lower, right, of course, is Rosa Ponselle, Atlanta's supreme favorite among the sopranos. She makes her only appearance of this year's season as Leonora, tonight. In the oval at lower left are a few of the members of the world-famous Metropolitan ballet, which will appear in "Il Trovatore" in incidental dances.

with all the vivacity and charm that romance has woven about the belles of Dixie.

She confessed she would rather like to try the movies but it all depends on a green test now being arranged. One handicap is, that like all singers, she is quite robust in build and the taste in movie heroines is considerably slim. But a singer can't diet much or she'll lose her voice. She asserted that the motion picture camera added at least 10 pounds in appearance to any woman and added that, under no circumstances, would she consent to an effort to secure the desired emaciated figure.

Rosa Ponselle seems fully recovered from a rather alarming sickness that worried her earlier in the season. She looks perfectly fit and is extremely eager for her chance to again sing Leonora in "Trovatore" for an Atlanta audience.

Miss Ponselle goes to England as soon as the present season closes for a season at Covent Garden, London. She said she wouldn't accept any other European engagements, as she has to rest in the summer, but the reception the English audiences gave her a year ago was so enthusiastic that she couldn't refuse when they asked her to return this year.

An excited young lady, running across the Biltmore patio, was identified as Geraldine Hasselmanns, seven-year-old daughter of Louise Hasselmanns, the great French conductor. Geraldine was named after the immortal Geraldine Farrar.

The cause of the excitement turned out to be a birthday party arranged for today at the hotel. It is Geraldine's seventh birthday, an event of tremendous importance, as everyone will agree.

Antonin Trantoul was not in evidence at the hotel on Thursday afternoon. The new French tenor retired to bed immediately on reaching the Biltmore, in order to rest all afternoon before singing the principal male role in "Louise" on Thursday night.

Signor Penino, from Cuba, close personal friend of Beniamino Gigli, has come to Atlanta again for the opera season. Just as he does every year. And yesterday afternoon he and the great Gigli greeted each other like a couple of schoolboys out for a holiday—just as they do every year.

Through all the excitement, as famous figures of three or four continents passed and repassed, Billy Guard sat undisturbed and worked at a new game of solitaire until he worked it out.

Insect-Infested Homes Have Most Illness

Authorities Waging Big Clean-up Campaign—Advise Using Kill-Ko

KILLS FLIES, MOSQUITOES, ANTS, MOTHS AND ROACHES

Multiplying at an almost unbelievable rate, living and feeding upon filth, insects spread all kinds of dangerous disease.

Authorities recognizing the merit of Kill-Ko are urging everyone to use its deadly gas in stamping out insects, to clean up homes and public buildings, thereby removing the cause of so much illness.

Kill-Ko does what dusts, powders and sticky papers cannot do. It sends off a powerful death-dealing gas that kills all insect life—and yet it is absolutely harmless to humans, beasts, fowls, furniture or fabrics.

Flies and mosquitoes fall in agony as Kill-Ko snuffs out their lives. Its gas penetrates every nook and corner, killing the young, leaving no new crop to take the place of others. Kill-Ko has been used for years. It is approved and preferred by many health authorities. You, too, will like it better than anything you have ever used.

Get Rigo's Kill-Ko from your drug-gist or grocer—in the blue bottles only. Two sizes, 50c and 75c. You off a powerful death-dealing gas that will find nothing else more effective.

Jury is expected to delve into is an investigation of alleged irregularities in the last session of the state general assembly. A quantity of evidence relating to alleged criminal acts is said to be in the hands of the solicitor general.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who is in Florida for another "fishing trip" and a rest from the strenuous duties connected with his office, is expected to return to the city Monday to take up the graft investigation with the new grand jury, and to prepare for the trial of City Clerk Walter Taylor on May 12.

Action of the Fulton county commission Wednesday in cutting off further expense funds for the investigation will not interfere with prosecution of the graft cases nor with the work of the grand jury, it was said. Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard has announced that he will stick by the solicitor-general until the entire graft probe is disposed of, regardless of whether or not he is paid any additional salary for his work.

Trial of City Clerk Taylor has been set for Monday, May 12, before Judge Virlyn B. Moore. The cases of Alderman J. E. Turner, Bruce Baxter, superintendent of the city garage; Councilman W. E. Saunders, ex-Councilman Harry York J. E. Robinson, ex-School Commissioner Roy D. Warren, and Alderman J. Allen Couch have been set for Thursday, May 15, before Judge Moore.

Deputy Sheriff T. Frank Callaway, former member of council, will be defended by his two sons, Albert and Roy Callaway, young attorneys, in the trial of a bribery charge, it was announced Thursday. Deputy Callaway was requested by Sheriff

James I. Lowry to retain his post as a deputy sheriff. In announcing that they will defend their father in the court trial, the Callaway brothers said:

"We have lived with him long enough to know him. You cannot live practically all your life with a man, be reared by him, and fail to learn his character. Lawyers usually try to believe their client innocent, but we know ours is."

TORNADOES KILL 17 IN MID-WEST

after the Tekamah facilities had been exhausted. Ambulances from near-by towns were pressed into service to aid in transporting the injured to Omaha.

A large part of the town lies in ruins. The streets are reported clogged with debris and the town is in darkness, all electric wires having been leveled by the storm.

The American Legion hall was hastily converted into a haven for the homeless and the less seriously injured.

Residents of Tekamah said the tornado hit with full fury at 6:50 a. m. It struck suddenly, sweeping up from the west and moved directly eastward through the northern section of the town, missing the principal residential district.

On the heels of the storm the entire city was plunged into darkness by breaks in the wiring system. At the hospital and other relief stations opened to treat the injured doctors were working by flashlight.

The storm that struck Homer was of short duration and blew itself out after sweeping the edge of that town. This twister, it was reported, moved so slowly that persons in its path were able to escape.

So slow was the approach of the twister that the family of Ivan Krumweige was able to out-distance it in a race to the home of a neighbor a mile away. The Krumweige home was wrecked. But the home of Alva Trank, the neighbor, was spared, the tornado skirting the building.

Between Modale and Mondamin, Iowa, another incident of the same kind occurred. There the family of William Bruckmiller out-distanced the tornado in a race in the family car. The storm that struck this section is believed to be the same one that swept Tekamah. However, its force was nearly spent when it reached Iowa.

A peculiarity of the storm was the fact that no rain accompanied it. Reports from the stricken areas said that some hail fell during the fury of the tornado, but no rain. Immediately after the tornado had passed Homer, however, a downpour began between that point and Sioux City.

It was estimated that an inch of rain fell in 15 minutes.

EXPANSION OF NAVIES IS SEEN UNDER TREATY

Congressman Britten, Here for Opera, Says Enlargement Provided.

The London naval parity, from which President Hoover Thursday sent to the senate the limitations treaty, promoted expansion instead of limitation, Representative Fred A. Britten, republican, Illinois, said here Thursday. Mr. Britten is chairman of the house naval affairs committee. "My impression is that it will cost the taxpayers of this country a billion and a half dollars to build our navy up to the British tonnage in order to acquire parity," he said.

Mr. Britten declined to comment on what the senate, which will begin hearings probably this week, will do with the limitations treaty. Neither would he talk about the lack of enthusiasm in the welcome extended the returning American delegates at New York and in Washington.

Sees Hoover Renomination.

Renomination of President Hoover—as matters stand now—prohibition as the paramount issue in the 1932 elections and uncertainty over the fate of Ruth Hanna McCormick were included in the topics which Mr. Britten discussed with a Constitution reporter. "The democrats have five good men to pick from," he said, adding that he thought the party would do well to nominate Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the United States shipping board, and President Coolidge's appointee on the war debts commission. In the list of prospects he included Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was in Atlanta also for a short time Thursday; Owen D. Young, Joseph T. Robinson, one of the American delegates to the London conference, and Governor Alfred Emanuel Smith, the party's all but unanimous choice in 1928.

Asking Mr. Britten about prohibition was as provocative of speech as inquiring of Senator J. Thomas Hefflin as to the health of the Pope.

Astonished at Poll Results.

"I am astonished," the Illinois house member said, "at the results of the poll your paper is taking here. We have repeatedly been told in Washington that you in the south were dry."

"The polls such as you are taking and such as the Literary Digest is making," Mr. Britten asserted, "are going to have a very wholesome effect upon a situation that—to say the least about it—is very bad."

"If the voters make up their minds to want a few of these drinking 'drys,' we may get some action when the next congress convenes. Sentiment in the United States has changed so sharply that it is now regarded as silly to brand a man as an ally of the brewers because he is opposed to prohibition.

"This question will be the paramount issue in the presidential election in 1932 and I look for some very beneficial legislation after that election, if not before."

Mrs. McCormick will enter the race for the senate with a 600,000 nominal republican majority in Illinois, Mr. Britten said, which is quite a handicap for the doughty J. Ham Lewis to overcome. However, the wet and dry issue may complicate the situation for Mrs. McCormick, Mr. Britten thought. Mr. and Mrs. Britten, he said, are in Atlanta solely to pay a little visit to Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little and to attend opera.

$694,000 Is Netted State by Gas Tax

Automobile drivers in Georgia Thursday made it possible for Assistant State Treasurer J. O. Anderson to turn over to the state highway department $694,000.

The money represented the highway department's share of the gasoline tax collected in the past few weeks, and it will be used to meet expenses of the 1930 highway program.

The treasury department reached into the money bags for several thousand more dollars for other state projects, also. The state sanitarium at Milledgeville received $63,333.33 from the general fund, and the University of Georgia was given $92,518.00 of its appropriation, authorized by the last legislature. This latter amount also came from the general fund.

Mr. Anderson said that the sales tax, due Thursday, but yet to be turned over by the tax commissioner's office, would be the next large amount of money received by the treasury. It will be a day or two before the total sales tax figures can be compiled, assistants to R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner said, due to arrival of checks by late mail.

BANKERS' INSTITUTE TO HONOR PRESIDENT

Dinner-Dance Will Be Given Tonight at Capital City Club.

William Joseph Evans, of Dallas, national president of the American Institute of Banking and assistant federal reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, will be the honor guest at the annual dinner-dance which will be given tonight by the Atlanta chapter of the institute at the Capital City Club. The dinner, which will begin at 7:30 will be attended by the officers, committee members, board of governors and faculty of the local chapter as well as officers of all Atlanta banks. All members of the A. I. B. have been invited to the dance which begins at ten o'clock.

Mr. Evans is a native of Tennessee, where he received his education and was admitted to the bar. After practicing law for a brief period he moved to Dallas and became connected with the American Exchange National Bank. Later he served as secretary to the mayor of Dallas, after which he joined the Federal Reserve bank. He was elected national vice president at the convention in Philadelphia in 1928 and succeeded to the presidency at the Tulsa convention in 1929.

Atlanta chapter held its annual election of officers for the ensuing year Thursday, with the following results: Harold H. Park, of the Federal Reserve bank, who served as vice president for 1929-30, succeeded to the presidency without opposition. W. Ralph DeLoach, assistant cashier, Fulton National bank, was elected vice president and will automatically become president at the expiration of Park's term. He defeated Thomas A. Moye, of the Citizens & Southern bank, in a close race. T. H. Mobley, of the Federal Reserve bank, was named treasurer without opposition and Miss Carolyn Meriwether was elected secretary. The three newly elected members of the board of governors are John F. Thigpen, of the Citizens & Southern; James C. Sholer and J. D. Morgan, of the First National; and H. O. Morgan, of the First National. H. O. Morgan, of the Citizens & Southern, is an ex-officio; John R. Jordan, Christian Stephens and B. D. Wilson, all of the First National bank.

Honor Guest.

W. J. EVANS,
Of Dallas, national president of the American Institute of Banking, who will be Atlanta chapter's honor guest at its annual dinner-dance tonight.

Parcel Delivery Ordinance Given Committee Okay

If council Monday sanctions a proposed ordinance approved Thursday by its ordinance committee it will be unlawful in the future for delivery boys to take parcels into front entrances of apartments after warnings have been posted by owners.

The ordinance will be punishable by a fine of not less than $3 nor more than $25 and costs in each case, under terms of the proposal. Representatives of the Atlanta Apartment House Owners' Association appeared before the committee championing the measure.

Amendment of the ordinance regulating installation of street signs so that they may project over sidewalks to within a foot of the curb also was sanctioned by the committee.

At the present time the signs must not project more than 54 inches over the sidewalk. They must not be lower than nine feet from the sidewalk under both ordinances.

All papers referred to the ordinance committee by the city planning commission also were approved.

City Club of Atlanta Hears Julian Harris

At the City Club of Atlanta Thursday a talk was made by Julian Harris, of The Constitution. Judge Earnest Kountz, president of the club, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Harris referred to the excitement aroused by the attempts of communists and told how Baltimore, Md., had successfully handled the demonstration there several weeks ago. The communists were allowed to parade and were protected by the police. There was no trouble. The speaker suggested that "it was the part of wisdom to permit groups to express their thoughts, no matter how much they were out of line with our own ideas or preconceived notions."

"So-called 'causes' thrive on persecution," said Mr. Harris, "and there is no more certain way of guaranteeing the growth of any doctrine than by making martyrs of its followers. Ideas are like gunpowder—they burn rather harmlessly if violently in the open, but when confined, an explosion occurs."

In support of his advocacy of freedom of speech, Mr. Harris quoted Voltaire, who said to his enemy, Helvétius, "I deny what you say but I shall defend to the death your right to say it," and Thomas Jefferson's assertion, "I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

Mr. Harris paid a tribute to Fremont Older, of San Francisco Call-Bulletin, referring to him as the greatest living American editor. The speaker told of the fight for truth made by Mr. Older despite the fact that he was dropped from the clubs of the city, ostracized by the majority of his friends and discharged from The Bulletin, a newspaper which he had built up by his courageous and intelligent policies. Mr. Harris described Mr. Older as the most tolerant man he had ever met, and that the San Francisco editor had said his intellectual objective was to become absolutely tolerant of intolerance.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Total for Month of April Is $876,241.

Building permits issued by C. J. Bowen, city building inspector, for the month of April totaled $876,241, it was revealed Thursday by A. C. McDaniel, assistant inspector.

The largest single permit was for $230,000 for erection of the new Jewish synagogue. A total of 74 new families can be housed in the new dwellings authorized during the month.

Renovation of the Georgia state capital building at a cost of $145,000 was the second largest permit issued.

2 New Water Mains Voted by Committee

Authorizing two new six-inch water mains, the water committee of council Thursday afternoon prepared to send the recommendations for the extensions to council Monday for approval.

The new mains will be in Newton street, from Flat Shoals avenue to East Side avenue, and in Murrell street extending the present main 200 feet further down that thoroughfare.

Singers, Musicians On Legion Program

Ruth Hanor, blues singer, Tootsie Dunbar, singer and dancer, Eugene Holmes and Lee Fowler, pianists and singer will be the entertainment attractions at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, at the Ansley hotel, civic room at 12:30 today.

CHILD HEALTH CRUSADE IS LAUNCHED IN STATE

More Than 200,000 Pupils To Be Examined in Georgia.

A state-wide health crusade which will not end until some 200,000 children of first year school age have been examined got under way in Georgia Thursday.

The day itself, known as Child Health Day, was celebrated in other states as a part of the program of the American Congress of Parent-Teachers' Associations, but in Georgia it will be continued throughout the week, to be followed next week by Georgia Health Week. The latter week is sponsored by the Georgia Medical and Dental Associations, and the state department of health is co-operating.

Deputy Health Commissioner Joe P. Bowdoin said that organizations had been perfected in 90 counties for examination and administration of corrective measures to sick children. All those coming of school age will be vaccinated for diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever, he said, the anti-toxin being furnished free by the department of health. And in addition teeth and eyes will be examined, in the search for bodily ills which might interfere with the child's school work.

"There were 182,426 first graders enrolled in Georgia schools last year," Dr. Bowdoin said, "and the figure this year is expected to be still higher. This number added to other school children will bring the total school enrollment to more than 700,000 for the year."

"The total figures in 1929 were 714,394. But of this number, only 335,190 were in what we call average attendance at school. This means that a large percentage was kept out long enough to miss their grades because of disease."

"Of course there were some kept from classes for other reasons, but the majority was due to illness. And our records show that more than 100,000 repeated grades because of mental and physical disability."

Mrs. T. H. Jeter, of Atlanta, past president and now first vice president of the Georgia P. T. A., is in charge of the work, and has organized a committee of 100 prominent Georgians to aid, Dr. Bowdoin said. Doctors, nurses, school officials and civic leaders are assisting, as are ministers, who have been asked to mention the health campaign in their sermons within the next two weeks. Window displays throughout the state have also been arranged as a means of creating interest in the campaign.

Change in Light Wiring Plan Urged

Connection of electrical units on the regular light wiring for homes instead of by special circuits will be considered today by Pat Hendricks, city electrician, under instructions of

How often are the dividends paid and when?

Preferred stock dividends are mailed out by check every three months to fully paid shareholders. Dividends are payable on the first days of March, June, September and December. Many of our shareholders are having their dividend checks sent to their banks for deposit in their savings account. In this way they receive interest on their dividends, and thereby make their money do double duty.—(adv.)

the electric lights committee of council.

At the present time ordinances call for separate installations, but distributors of the smaller units appeared before the committee Thursday afternoon holding that connection with the regular light circuits would not react to the detriment of the service and would save purchasers of the equipment from $10 to $20 on each connection.

So impressed was the committee with the proposal that it instructed Mr. Hendricks to make an immediate investigation with a view of revising ordinances if it were found that the claims of the committee were well founded.

County Taxpayers Get Time Extension

Fulton county tax books will remain open through May 10 in order that tardy citizens may avoid being delinquent in returning property for taxation, it was announced Thursday by Edwin F. Johnson, county tax receiver.

More than 50,000 persons have filed returns and there remains some 10,000 returns to be filed, Mr. Johnson said. He pointed out that delinquent taxpayers are subject to heavy penalties for failure to make returns.

The magic word . . . CONVENIENCE . . . is a powerful lure to those who by merely turning a switch can have at their command the things which make for ease and comfort, but what a price one must pay for these so-called improvements.

The end to the high cost of living about which so many grumble, but make no great effort to correct, is not yet in sight—even in the matter of home heating.

It is about time one should pause, however . . . long enough to check up on the vast difference in heating costs, before taking on the added burden which natural gas or fuel oil must entail, as compared with the cost of burning coal.

Crisp Leads Floor Attack On High Rates of Tariff

Takes Place of Garner as Minority Leader; "Unconscionable," Says
Georgia Representative.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(Special.)—Acting as an assistant minority leader in the absence of Representative John N. Garner, of Texas, who is ill, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, today waged a vigorous attack on the tariff bill conference report, but saw democratic forces go down to defeat in the end by an avalanche of republican votes. Aided by 18 democratic supporters who more than offset the defection of 16 republicans, administration leaders secured the adoption of the report by a vote of 240 to 141. The senate is yet to act.

Representative Crisp, himself a member of the ways and means committee, which initiated hearings on the tariff at the beginning of the Hoover administration a year ago, held the floor for an hour in a vitriolic assault on the measure.

Describing the bill as finally worked out by house and senate conferees as a monstrosity and an "outrageous and unconscionable" levy on American people, the Georgia member warned congress against throwing up a wall of protection around the United States that might cause foreign nations to take retaliatory measures. He minimized the need for further tariff protection by citing official figures to show that our present imports constitute only 4.7-10 per cent of our total American consumption, pointing out that these figures take into account the fact that one-third of American imports from abroad are products which cannot be produced in this country.

At the outset Representative Crisp explained that he was speaking at the request of Minority Leader Garner, of Texas, now ill, who had asked him to define the democratic opposition to the bill.

Recalling that he had been associated with the lower house for 28 years, as a boy and as a member, he said: "Today we witness one of the most remarkable spectacles I have ever seen in my life. We are called upon to vote on a bill which, it is estimated, will tax the American people one billion dollars in addition to what they already pay."

"The bill is intended to create, or if not intended will create monopolies and trusts that will crush an already burdened consuming public under added cost of the necessities of life," Representative Crisp said that he favored a tariff bill with duties levied in sufficient amount to furnish reasonable protection for American products, one that would equalize the difference between costs of production here and abroad, but declared that the

Hawley-Smoot bill failed to meet with this formula.

"This tariff bill," he continued, "is fraught with great danger to the happiness and prosperity of the country, and it is likely to cause economic and agricultural chaos."

Reminding the house that "nations are but aggregations of individuals," he warned against enacting a tariff act so protective in its scope that foreign countries might be induced to take retaliatory measures.

"What would become of agriculture," he asked, "if it could not sell abroad its surplus products, cotton, wheat and manufactured goods? What would become of industry if it could not sell its surplus? If they did not have a foreign market what would they do? They would shut down or run on part time, putting thousands of American workmen out of employment."

"Twenty-eight nations of the world have protested against this tariff bill and are threatening to put into effect reprisal tariffs. Can you blame them?"

Declaring that foreign nations owe the United States a total of some twenty-two billion dollars, the Georgia member told the house it was "a foolish policy for this country to try to shut the gates of commerce if it ever expected to collect this stupendous obligation. High protectionism, he said, ignoring the period of sound business and prosperity that has existed in recent years, are seeking to 'kill the goose that laid the golden egg.'"

"It is interesting to note that exports decreased $285,000,000 in the first three months of this year, compared with the same period of last

"That is a total decrease in value of our foreign trade in the last three months of $515,310,000. At that rate the decrease in foreign trade in 12 months would be two billion dollars. You are already beginning to feel the effect of the contemplated enactment of this outrageous, unconscionable high tariff bill."

He also called attention to the manner in which the bill was drafted declaring: "Fifteen republican members sat behind closed doors, drafted a bill, brought it in here, passed it through the house under gas rule and it went to the senate. The senate finance committee republicans pursued the same course. It came back here with 1,200 amendments and under the gas rule was put in conference. Up to today the members of the house have had no opportunity to express their views on any of the rates in the bill."

"All of the hearings and preliminary actions by the committee were simply a barrage, preparing the way for action by six members of congress, three senators and three members of the house. All of the other was a smoke screen. Not a democrat was permitted to sit in committee, notwithstanding a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association sat in with the senate behind closed doors."

Motor Fatalities Decrease in Month

Although there was one more automobile accident reported in April than in March, fatalities decreased from five to two. The total number of accidents for the month was 235.

There were 108 persons injured in April, as compared with 83 injured in March, the report of the police traffic bureau shows.

Former Mayor Key Is Doing 'Splendidly'

Former Mayor James L. Key, mentioned as a possible candidate for another term in the June 18 primary, was reacting "splendidly" following a gland operation Wednesday night, attending the Georgia Baptist hospital announced Thursday night.

An abscess, said to have developed from one of the glands in Mr. Key's neck.

Telephone Engineer Gets New York Post

Announcement is made of the promotion of Frank B. Saunders, plant extension engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. here to the general staff of the New York Telephone Company. Mr. Saunders will be succeeded by Ernest F. Brown, who formerly occupied the position of Tennessee plant superintendent for the company.

Mr. Saunders has resided in Atlanta for 18 years. He served with the signal corps in France during the war and since has taken an active part in the American Legion, having twice served as post commander. The Dixie chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America has also honored him with the office of president.

Sellin' Straw Hats for 99c and $1.99

"Course I could get more money than 99c and $1.99 for fine straw hats, but I couldn't sell 'em a minute' at regular retail prices. I simply got to have the volume 'cause I got to buy 'em in carload lots to get 'em at my price. And then you know my livin' made anyhow and half of my pay is to see the smiles on your faces when you realize that 'what Metcalf says is so.'"

Now you old doubtin' Thomas that ain't bought no hats from me and don't believe nobody 'cause nobody don't believe you—just step into a Metcalf Store tomorrow and see how it's done. We got three big stores in Atlanta and 10,000 hats to select from in each store. Folks, it's a sight to behold—the 'hat business we're doin'. If you don't spend a dime come and see.

And you know we're sellin' GENUINE PALM BEACH SUITS for..

National Cotton Group Adds Discontent With Methods of Board.

BOSTON, May 1.—(P)—The federal farm board was held responsible for increasing unemployment and the fickleness of woman was declared to be an important factor in the successful operation of a textile mill by speakers today at the convention of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

Sidney Y. West, of Little Rock, Ark., in the convention that the farm board had "practically cornered the May-July positions and forced them to an unnatural premium over the new cotton crop." This has increased unemployment in the industrial sections of the country thus decreasing the purchasing power in those districts at a time when unemployment is already great.

The domestic plan, saying a bonus on exported cotton, he said, would "possibly destroy the entire American cotton yarn and goods business."

Allyn R. McIntyre, vice president of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, appealed to manufacturers to advise and to heed the fancies of women.

"You cannot make a success of a textile mill unless you cater to the whims and fancies of fickle women," he said.

Goldsborough Ready To Resume Air Hop

EL PASO, Texas, May 1.—(P)—Delayed here today by a mishap to his plane, Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old pilot rushed repairs in order to be ready to take off tomorrow morning for Tucson, Ariz., on another leg of his transcontinental flight.

Young Goldsborough flew his crippled plane 100 miles into El Paso this morning after the lower left wing was bent back and a spar split in a collision with a telephone pole in taking off from the desert 100 miles east of here.

The New Jersey youngster decided to land in the desert last night instead of flying through to El Paso as he had planned. He landed by the light of an oil truck.

Goldsborough left Westfield, N. J., at 5:40 a. m. (E. S. T.) last Monday. He is flying a biplane powered with a five-cylinder radial motor. He had hoped to make the trip to Los Angeles in three days.

259,162 ARE ENROLLED IN EPWORTH LEAGUE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 1.—(P)—Dr. F. S. Parker, general secretary of the Epworth league board, Methodist Episcopal church, south, reviewed 40 years of steady growth of the Epworth league at the annual meeting of the league board here today.

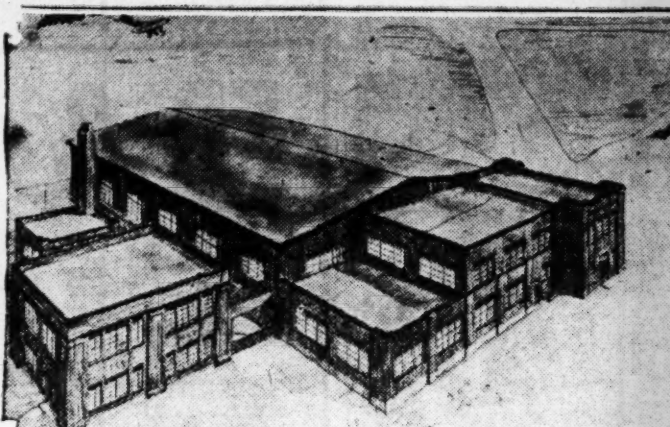

There are now, he said, 9,333 chapters, with a membership of 259,162. Epworth leaguers during the past year gave $99,562 for missions and $311,648.87 for other purposes, a total of $411,447.72, Dr. Parker reported. This brought their donations for the past quadrennium to $1,710,130.72.

"The most conspicuous contribution of the Epworth league movement to the church," Dr. Parker said, "is in the development of leaders and in evangelical conversions and life service volunteers. Young soul winners win souls. From these come many of the life commitments that swell the ranks of our ministry and recruit our foreign and home mission fields."

AIR VIEWS AT CANDLER FIELD

Drawing showing the two additions to the Eastern Air Transport, Inc. quarters at Candler field which will be erected immediately. These buildings will house a plane overhaul shop and a "dope" shop, paint room and boiler shop. A second story is to be added to the office building also. The plans have been approved by the aviation committee of city council. In the accompanying sketch the main building is shown in the center and the additions are to the right and the left.

Don Dice, chief pilot for the Standard Oil Company, of Louisiana, passed through Atlanta Thursday en route to Philadelphia. He was flying a Loening amphibian powered with a Ford-25 motor, and he stopped at the S. A. T. hangar at Candler Field to refuel. Incidentally, it may be noted that the S. A. T. houses all Standard Oil planes at New Orleans.

Another official of the Standard Oil Company visited Candler Field Thursday. He was Colonel John H. Jewett, who resigned from the army two months ago to accept the position as head of the aviation department of the oil company. He is en route to New York flying a Buhl sedan, which he housed in the S. A. T. hangar Thursday night. He was slated to take off sometime this morning to resume his northward journey.

For Wednesday and Thursday the airmail ships at Candler Field held a perfect record. Fair weather prevailing, all planes arrived and departed on time for the two days.

Among the well-known visitors at Candler Field Thursday was Bill

Winston, one of Colonel Lindbergh's flying instructors. He headed a party of well-known flyers who reached the field from Miami late in the afternoon. The other two members of the party were J. B. Neill, head of the Curtis-Wright ground schools, and W. C. Sergeant, department of commerce aeronautics inspector.

There was another visitor at the field Thursday who deserves mention among those who come and go there daily. It was Alex Crun, nephew of the Danish ambassador to America, who arrived at the S. A. T. hangar from Sarasota, Florida, en route to Cincinnati. He was flying a Parks trainer.

Walter M. Cross, a Kansas City chemist, arrived at Candler Field Thursday in a large cabin monoplane. He was accompanied by Roy Watson, attorney from Kansas City, and the two were en route to Miami where the wife and daughter of Mr. Cross are vacationing. After picking up his wife and daughter there he will fly to Langley Field, Virginia, where his son will join the party. Then after a number of stops at Washington, New York and other eastern centers, they will all return to Kansas City. Mr. Cross stated Thursday while stopping here that vacationing by airplane is an ideal way to obtain the maximum of enjoyment from any outing. Gene Gabbert is piloting the plane.

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE INDORSES NAVAL PACT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—(P)—A resolution "heartily supporting" the London naval limitations treaties was introduced, under national board sponsorship, at today's session of the League of Women Voters' tenth anniversary convention.

League rules prevented final action today, but the delegates unanimously voted to consider it at Saturday's session, and applauded an announcement that President Hoover had sent the treaties to the senate.

Other resolutions called on President Hoover and on congress for action in behalf of maternity and infancy legislation and the United States children's bureau, and on the senate for final passage of the act establishing equal nationality rights for women "without hampering amendments."

These resolutions also were favorably voted for consideration, with final action set for Saturday.

The resolution urging congress to re-enact promptly maternity and infancy legislation "reaffirmed" the measure itself and the children's bureau administration of the federal fund. This action would be in direct opposition to the "second Cooper bill," pending in the house, and called "an administration measure" by convention speakers, which would divide the administration between children's bureau and public health service. It was commended by the national board of the league. Mrs. Alfred D. Kohn, of Chicago, added a resolution from the floor thanking President Hoover for his appreciation of the children's bureau and calling on him and congress to increase its resources.

The convention failed to follow 1929 precedent by introduction of a resolution calling for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Nor did the New York delegation offer resolution for study of birth control legislation with a view to possible sponsorship, although Miss Belle Sherwin, president, specifically offered opportunity for such action. Announcement was made on the convention floor that the New York delegation had won a committee vote of 9 to 8 favoring the birth control measure, though failing to get the necessary two-thirds. New York delegates later expressed pleasure in the progress made, saying they preferred to continue the campaign in their own state before pressing it further nationally.

Woman Killed In Auto Crash

Tampa, Fla., May 1.—(P)—Mrs. Frances Gudger, 54, of Sebring, was fatally injured, and Mrs. Mabel Donnell, of Montclair, N. J., was seriously hurt today as their automobile turned over twice near here.

County Traffic Officer Preston Smith said the negro driver of the car lost control and the machine swerved off the highway. Smith denied reports that the car was struck by a truck.

The accident happened shortly after noon today and Mrs. Gudger died at 10 o'clock tonight.

Lone Sailor's Argosy Ended by Heavy Seas

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., May 1.—(P)—Nicholas Gongopolus, Greek seaman, who set out from Miami last Sunday in the 12-foot boat Ulysses on a proposed trip to Athens, Greece, was driven ashore by a pounding sea near Deerfield beach, 50 miles north of Miami, today.

Fighting heavy waves, kicked up by a strong northeast wind that has whipped this section of the coast for the past six days, Gongopolus made his way through the surf to the beach. As soon as lines can be made fast to the craft it will be pulled onto dry land.

Gongopolus, none the worse for his experience, said that as soon as the sea moderates he would again set forth to brave the broad expanse of the Atlantic in an effort to reach his homeland.

Captain Thomas Knight, keeper at Hillsboro light, saw the small craft go aground just south of Deerfield beach. The coast guard base here was notified and a rescue party dispatched to the scene.

Gongopolus set sail from Miami Sunday after receiving the well wishes of Mayor C. H. Reeder and other city officials in ceremonies incident to the departure.

Reds' Day Comes and Goes, Bringing Little Violence

Demonstrations Are Held All Over World But Assemblages Are Almost All Peaceful.

BY UNITED NEWS.
May Day, appropriated by communists and radicals of all shades as their day for expressing discontent with the world as it is, passed peacefully Thursday.

There were demonstrations all over the world, with the usual fiery speeches and banners denouncing those in power. There was almost no violence. Arrests altogether numbered around 500, but there were millions of demonstrators, and thousands of gatherings.

New York's demonstration was the largest in America. It was an unusual one. At noon war veterans held a patriotic demonstration at Union square, traditionally the "red" steam-letting sanctuary. Three hours later communists met there, spoke, sang and dispersed in good temper.

Arrests in the United States numbered at least

TOLD AT LEAST 100 PEOPLE OF SARGON, HE SAYS

Has Never Seen Such a Medicine for Building Up a Toxic, Rundown System, States Atlanta Man.

"I reckon I've already told at least a hundred people what Sargon did for me, because in all my life I've never seen anything like it," said L. R. Hall, well-known real estate man of 559 Grant St., S. E., Atlanta, recently.

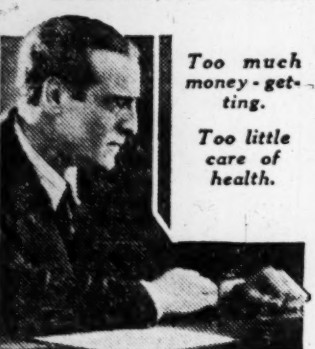

Working out doors in the real estate business, I had always enjoyed fine health until about eighteen months ago. Then my health seemed to break and I thought I never would get back in good condition again. I commenced suffering with indigestion, my whole system became toxic, and I was badly rundown. My nerves were affected, and I suffered with sharp cutting pains in my hips and legs. My kidneys seemed affected and all in all I was in pretty bad condition.

"My son had gotten splendid benefits from Sargon, so I decided to see what it would do for me. And in all my life I never saw such medicine. Three bottles put me in fine condition, strengthened and built up my whole system and made me feel like a new man. Sargon Soft Mass Pills, which I also took, put my liver in fine condition and rid my system of all the toxic poisons. They are the best laxative I ever took."

"I could talk for a week telling what I think of the Sargon treatment."

The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., meeting the public and giving the facts about this remarkable new scientific discovery. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

to form for demonstrations, arresting six persons. Other German cities were comparatively quiet except for brawls between communists and socialists and communists and fascists.

Japanese police made some 300 precautionary arrests during the day, but more than 50,000 persons participated in empire-wide demonstrations.

Two policemen were wounded in a suburb of Tokyo. Thirty thousand persons paraded in Osaka, and 15,000 in Tokyo, both groups including a number of women. Parades also were held in smaller cities.

Many other cities of Europe and Asia had some form of May Day activities, but no trouble of consequence was reported.

Zep Ocean Service Within 2 Years Seen
(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)
NEW YORK, May 1.—Regular trans-Atlantic Zeppelin passenger service, with two ships each way every week, as early as 1932, is the confident expectation of Dr. Hugo Eckener, according to George N. Crouse, of Syracuse, N. Y.

He has Dr. Eckener's own word for this, says Mr. Crouse, who knows the Graf Zeppelin pilot well, has already crossed the Atlantic in the air with Dr. Eckener, and who plans to be on the Graf Zeppelin on her forthcoming voyage to Lakehurst. Mr. Crouse sailed on the Mauretania Wednesday afternoon.

"Dr. Eckener seems entirely certain of what he says," remarked Mr. Crouse. "He says that one ship for this service is now being built in Germany, that another will soon be started there, and that two more will be put under construction in Arkon, Ohio."

"One of the few points remaining in doubt, according to Dr. Eckener, is a landing field. Dr. Eckener prefers a location on the Maryland peninsula, because of the likelihood of more favorable winds there. But two other locations, one in Virginia, the other in New Jersey, are being considered."

"There is just a possibility, Dr. Eckener concedes, that the service may not be established in 1932, but at the very latest, he told me, the ships will be running on regular schedule in 1933."

Mississippi Official Resigns Under Fire

JACKSON, Miss., May 1.—(P)—Under the fire of a legislative investigating committee who charged him with bartering in motor bus lines permits, Bryce Alexander, of Rolling Fork, today resigned from the Mississippi railroad commission and blamed his fate on politics.

Threatened by Representative Dan McGehee, chairman of the house standing committee, that his ousting from office would be sought by impeachment proceedings in the legislature, Commissioner Alexander handed in his resignation with the statement: "In resigning from my post I do so thoroughly contented in my own mind that I have rendered the people of my district and my state honest and faithful service."

The resignation was handed to Governor T. G. Bilbo by Mr. McGehee and was readily accepted by the governor.

Shipping Board Report Booms Jacksonville

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(P)—T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States shipping board, today announced the publication of a new report on the port of Jacksonville, Fla., prepared jointly by the bureau of operations of the United States shipping board and the board of engineers for rivers and harbors of the war department.

The report shows that Jacksonville is the commercial metropolis of the Florida peninsula with a channel 30 feet deep from the ocean to the city docks.

Tables accompanying the report show that the average annual commerce of the port of Jacksonville during the period 1919 to 1928 amounted to 2,480,897 tons. The amount handled in 1928 was 2,413,255 tons, as compared with 1,672,127 tons in 1919.

Many other cities of Europe and Asia had some form of May Day activities, but no trouble of consequence was reported.

increase of about 44 per cent. During the period imports averaged 421,755 tons and exports 277,616 tons per year.

Due to its location in the heart of the pine belt of the southern states, Jacksonville has become one of the leading naval stores depots of the United States, the report points out.

The movement of naval stores to foreign ports during the last decade has more than quadrupled, increasing from a little over 26,000 tons in 1919 to almost 107,000 tons in 1928.

1 Killed as Storm Hits New York Area

NEW YORK, May 1.—(P)—The torch that flames from the hand of the Statue of Liberty was darkened tonight for an hour when an electrical storm swept over the city and disrupted the electric system on Bedloe's Island.

Soldiers in the island garrison performed their duties with flashlights. One man was killed by a lightning bolt during the storm. He was Joseph Cenatento, 26, of Queens borough, who was caught in a field when the storm broke. With a friend he ran for the nearest house, but a bolt struck him before he reached shelter.

RABIES NOW AT PEAK, SELLERS DECLARES

Contrary to popular belief, the worst days for rabid dogs are not in the middle of the summer, T. F. Sellers, of the state board of health laboratories, stated Thursday relative to the rabies epidemic raging among dogs in Atlanta and Fulton county, but in the early part of the year.

Reports showed that 450 persons in Atlanta and Fulton county were bitten by dogs and took the rabies treatment in the first four months of this year. Last year in the same period 78 were bitten.

A chart Mr. Sellers has prepared shows that there is less incidence of rabies during the so-called "dog days" over a period of the last 10 years than there is in the first part of the year. The high point of the chart is shown in February.

Another exploded belief is that rabid dogs should be killed immediately, especially after they have bitten somebody. To be sure, according to Mr. Sellers, the family of the bitten person feels like killing the offending animal, but this procedure oftentimes will hamper treatment of the victim.

The dog should be penned up, if possible, and observation allowed. A week of imprisonment for observation is recommended by Mr. Sellers.

"In the meantime, if the wounds are severe," said Mr. Sellers, "if they are located about the face, head, anti-rabic treatment should be begun. If, after a few days, the dog is showing no symptoms, then treatment can be stopped. Superficial skin wounds on any part of the body except the face do not require immediate treatment."

"If the animal has been killed its head should be cut off and sealed in a watertight can or bucket, packed with sawdust and ice in a larger can and shipped by prepaid express, not by mail, to the state board of health laboratories. The shipper should notify the laboratories by letter that the head is being sent, giving all available information about the animal, the number of persons bitten and all information."

"If a positive evidence of rabies is found, all persons bitten by the animal should receive anti-rabic treatment."

"Persons not actually bitten but exposed through possible contact with infectious saliva, with fresh cuts and abrasions may need treatment. "All animals bitten or suspected to have been bitten by rabid or suspicious animal should be killed or confined for 90 days. Under certain circumstances dogs can be treated successfully. Cats cannot be handled easily and therefore should be killed. The safest policy is to kill all dogs or cats which have been bitten."

New Cases Reported.
On the heels of a meeting of sanitary committee this afternoon to consider relief measures for the rabies epidemic raging in Atlanta and Fulton county two other victims to the long list of 450 already taking the treatment were added Thursday, emphasizing the importance of immediate and drastic action to curb the ravages of unvaccinated dogs.

Bill Lively, nemesis of Atlanta's roving dogs, Thursday banded nearly 1,000 when he netted 62 stray mongrels out of 63 attempts.

Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer, will recommend that immediate and drastic measures be adopted to rid Atlanta of the danger of further spread of the dread disease by eliminating the cause—unvaccinated roving dogs.

There were 62 patients under treatment for rabies at Grady Thursday, and 192 patients were given anti-rabies treatment at the state capital during the month of April. Others were treated by private physicians.

Mrs. G. W. Green, 26, and M. E. Rutledge, 38, of 102 Atlanta avenue, were listed as the latest victims of dog bites and were treated to prevent infection.

Grady Is Defended In Court Answer

An answer defending Grady hospital and Steiner cancer clinic from charges in a suit by Attorney Carl P. Hutcheson and E. I. Fowler was filed Thursday by City Attorney James L. Mayson in Fulton superior court. The answer denies that Grady hospital is a "foothold of politics and a cess-pool of political chicanery."

The petition filed by Hutcheson and Fowler asked for an injunction to restrain the city from appropriating further funds to Grady hospital on the grounds of unwise expenditures and discrimination in treating patients. The answer denies that physicians of the hospital staff charge fees for treatment of patients or that there have been discriminations in acceptance of cancer patients at Steiner clinic.

GOV. ROOSEVELT GOES TO RESORT FOR REST

New York's Executive Passes Through City on Way to Warm Springs.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, passed through Atlanta late Thursday en route to Warm Springs, Ga., for a vacation of three weeks.

The governor, who was a leader in the development of the Warm Springs foundation for the treatment of infantile paralysis, said he had come to Georgia only to enjoy the Warm Springs pool and to take a rest. For a number of years, he has visited Warm Springs several times annually to take a daily plunge in the pools, which are filled with warm, mineral water which gushes out of a mountain side.

Accompanying the New York chief executive was Dr. Leroy Hubbard, surgeon in charge of the Warm Springs foundation, who had been on week's visit to New York. His private secretary, two office secretaries and two New York state policemen also were in the party. The secretaries came along in order that Roosevelt might keep up with any correspondence or official duties requiring his attention during the vacation.

Newspapermen and Atlanta friends greeted the New York chief executive in the drawing room of his Pullman. Asked to discuss politics, Governor Roosevelt said that so far as he was concerned at this particular time "politics died" when he boarded his vacation train in New York Wednesday night. No New York newspapermen accompanied the governor here.

The governor said he was keenly interested in the progress of experiments being conducted at Warm Springs, under his suggestion, for the planting of pine trees as a commercial crop on unused farm and mountain land. He said that dairying also had been introduced there.

Governor Roosevelt arrived at Warm Springs early Thursday night. He was greeted at the station by a number of friends who have established a custom of holding an informal reception for the governor when he arrives for visits several times each year.

"It's great to get back here," said Governor Roosevelt as he shook hands with members of the group at the station. After greetings had been exchanged Governor Roosevelt drove to his home. His stay will terminate about June 1.

He expects to join the patients in their daily swim at the pools beginning tomorrow. The governor appeared in good health and said he felt fine. He said he was looking forward with pleasure to "somehow of a family reunion" while in Warm Springs.

Mrs. Roosevelt is expected to reach the little Georgia town today and the governor's mother is due on May 10.

Girl Hit by Car.

Bernice Taylor, age 2, daughter of Mrs. Frances Taylor, of 193 East Hunter street, suffered severe lacerations about the head and face Thursday afternoon when she was hit by a Stone Mountain trolley car on Hunter street between King and Moore streets. The child was given treatment at Grady hospital.

Montana Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 4 Weeks

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

When stout women can lose fat and at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness. Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense? Please read this letter carefully:

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

I was the first to purchase a bottle in Billings.

I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that I could not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 220 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 200 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. Just try one bottle and by following directions, I am sure it will convince any one. I bought my second bottle to-day."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but $5. at Jacobs' Pharmacy or any drugstore in America.—(adv.)

STATE 'HEALTHCADE' SCHEDULE ARRANGED

Dr. Abercrombie Announces Tentative Plans for Motor Jant.

Tentative schedule for the Georgia State Healthcade, sponsored by the state department of health for the purpose of showing what organized health forces can do for benefit of the state, was announced Thursday by Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health.

The motorcade, made up of health officials and newspapermen will leave Atlanta on June 9, and during that week will follow the following tentative schedule:

Leave Atlanta, visit Cordelle and Americus, arriving Albany on night; Tuesday, June 10, inspect county-wide drainage in Dougherty county, visiting Salvestor in the afternoon and spending night at Albany; Wednesday, June 11, visit Cassville and Cairo, arriving Bainbridge on night; Thursday, June 12, inspect hydro-electric projects in Decatur county, visiting Thomasville, Moultrie and Quitman, arriving in Valdosta on night; Friday, June 13, visit Homerville and Waycross, arriving Brunswick on night; Saturday, June 14, witness operation of large clinic in Brunswick and other Glynn county projects. Sunday at Brunswick.

Second week: Monday, June 16, leave Brunswick, visiting Joseph, arriving Waycross on night; Tuesday, June 17, visit Douglas and Swainsboro, arriving in Dublin on night; Wednesday, June 18, visit Milledgeville and Sandersville, arriving Louisville on night; Thursday, June 19, visit school for mental defectives at Greenwood and new projects at Circleville, arriving in Augusta on night; Friday, June 20, to be spent inspecting health projects in Augusta and Richmond county. Saturday, June 21, visit Savannah, inspecting Chatham county health projects. Sunday at Tybee.

Third week: Monday, June 23, leave Savannah for Macon, inspecting Bibb county health projects. Tuesday, June 24, visit Griffin, arriving at LaGrange on night; Wednesday, June 25, visit Marietta, inspecting large Goodrich tire plant, arriving Rome on night; Thursday, June 26, visit Cartersville, arriving LaFayette on night; Friday, June 27, inspect various north Georgia projects. Saturday, June 28, leave for Lookout Mountain, spending Saturday night and Sunday.

On Monday, June 30, the party will leave Lookout Mountain for Gainesville and the State Tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto, spending the night in Gainesville. Tuesday, July 1, inspect Clarke county projects and visit Decatur and DeKalb projects, arriving in Atlanta for night, ending trip.

Boykin Is First To Remit State Taxes on Income

Representative James W. Boykin, who sponsored the statutory income tax bill and after whom it is named, made the first tax return and paid the first tax under the law.

Representative Boykin's check was received Thursday by the office of State Tax Commissioner R. C. Norman upon the promptness with which it had organized machinery for the collection of the tax after the law was upheld by the state supreme court, and urged that the people of the state co-operate by sending in early returns.

"I trust that the people of Georgia generally will give your department their whole-hearted support and co-operation in the enforcement of the law," he stated. "Whatever changes or modifications that might be made in the law in the future with the aim to improving it, I think it can be reasonably said that the net income tax law has become a fixed principle of state as well as federal taxation. Any and all talk of repealing it is more folly."

Mr. Norman said that while he announced Mr. Boykin's remittance because it happened to be the first received, he wanted the taxpayers to understand that returns would be kept secret and that his books would not be opened to public inspection. He announced also that forms for returns were to be mailed to corporations this week and asked that any which had not received one by Monday communicate with his office. Mailing the blanks to firms is not required by law, he said, and the failure to receive one cannot be taken as an excuse for not paying the tax, which must be paid by June 15.

Thin, Weak, Weary Folks Are Pleased

Jacobs' says these vitalizing vitamins must benefit you wonderfully or money back

Millions of people in America are weak and weary. They are so run-down physically and mentally that they are in no condition to do even a decent day's work.

They go to bed tired out at night and hate to get out of bed in the morning.

They have lost their ambition—they haven't half enough energy and their vitality is away below par.

The first thing these men and women should do and the best thing they can do is to get into their system the right kind of vitamins.

The kind of vitamins that build up health—that increase strength and vitality—that create energy and ambition and put into the body the power to resist disease—when disease attacks.

You'll find the right kind of vitamins to swiftly help you in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets. No drugs of any kind.

And these precious tablets are not expensive—60 tablets, 60 cents. At Jacobs' Pharmacy, and remember this if they do not help you—help you wonderfully in 21 days—get your money back. Just ask for McCoy's at any drug store in America.—(adv.)

Mother Jones, at 100 Years, Still Is Militant and Keen

BY SUE McNAMARA, Associated Press Staff Writer, SILVER SPRINGS, Md., May 1.

(P)—Sitting under an apple tree surrounded by friends of labor who had come to celebrate her 100th birthday, Mother Jones made as fiery a speech today as she did 30 years ago when exhorting miners to strike.

Her cheeks were pink with excitement. Labor leaders carried the frail little old lady, dressed in her best black silk, to the front yard of the Washington Trades Building Council carried out the huge pink and white birthday cake, holding it steady so the frosting would not jarr off in passing over the rough road.

Most precious of all to Mother Jones were the telegrams which came pouring in from labor unions, of horsehoers, garment workers, tailors, grocery clerks and many other trades expressing admiration and gratitude for the work she has done. The messages made a tall yellow pile under her shaking, withered hand. She would not let them out of her sight.

Band music and refreshments served by Mrs. Burgess and neighborhood women made the affair an all-day party. Mother Jones said a Chicago doctor once told her she would live to be 115, barring accidents.

On the lawn she faced the cameras, took a deep breath and a drink of water and launched into an impromptu speech which brought loud applause and sent the near-by circling crows wheeling back to the woods.

A dog, enjoying a nap in the May sunshine, jumped to his feet as the dauntless white-haired labor leader said in a ringing voice:

"America was not founded on dollars but on the blood of men who gave their lives for your benefit. Power lies in the hands of labor to retain American liberty but labor has not yet learned how to use that power. A wonderful power is in the hands of women, too, but they don't know how to use it. Capitalists sidetrack the women into clubs and make ladies of them. Nobody wants ladies, they want women. Ladies are parlor parasites."

Though Mother Jones lives in a country home without a telephone and on an unpaved road, loyal labor found its way to her door today in a steady stream. Cars began coming

Injunction Is Asked Against Auto Tax

A petition attacking constitutionality of the act of 1927, which assembled levying an occupational tax on automobile dealers and the act of the 1929 legislature in providing penalties for violation was filed Thursday in Fulton superior court by G. C. Brooks and C. M. Hall, of the Brooks-Hall Motor Company, Chevrolet dealers, of Jonesboro. The petition is directed against the state comptroller-general and the state commissioner of revenue and the tax commissioner of DeKalb county.

The plaintiffs allege that the tax act seeks to impose a threefold penalty, and is discriminatory and unreasonable. It asks that the defendants be restrained from collecting the tax and that the tax be declared unconstitutional. The plaintiffs are represented by Attorneys H. F. Sharp, John L. Kelley and Frank T. Grizzard. Judge John D. Humphries issued a temporary restraining order and set the case for May 10.

The plaintiffs allege that the tax commission of DeKalb county is seeking to collect the occupational tax from them for automobiles said to have been sold in DeKalb county by the Jonesboro firm.

Divorce Move Leads To Double Tragedy

WICKLIFFE, Ky., May 1.—(P)—Divorce proceedings which Mrs. Robert Edwards planned to start against her husband resulted in a double tragedy here today when Edwards, a farmer, shot and killed his wife and then fatally wounded himself. She died at their 2-year-old child went wild.

Mrs. Edwards had just returned home from court, where she was granted the custody of the child in a preliminary hearing, when her husband entered. She screamed for him not to shoot the child, which she held in her arms. He fired, three bullets passing through his wife's neck. She died almost instantly.

After firing at the child Edwards turned the gun on himself. He died six hours later at a hospital. Friends said Edwards had threatened to kill his wife, the child and Mrs. Edwards' mother if his wife divorced him.

Survey of Inland Waterways Planned

Completion of a commercial survey preliminary to the more comprehensive survey of inland waterways from Atlanta to Corpus Christi, Texas, was announced in Atlanta Thursday by P. A. Naugle, assistant United States army engineer, stationed in the Montgomery (Ala.) district office who has had charge of the Atlanta survey.

Although it will not be available to the public until it has been transmitted from the board of army engineers to congress, the report will contain much valuable information for shipping and industrial interests, Mr. Naugle added.

Recent announcement was made that no special legislation is necessary to make a navigation survey of the Chattahoochee, as contemplated in a bill Congressman Robert Rampeck introduced, and it will be conducted simultaneously with a physical, flood control and hydro-electric survey of the Georgia and Alabama river systems, Naugle stated.

Press Association Cancels Spring Trip

Members of the Georgia Press Association will not make a spring tour this year because of the press of other business facing the newspapermen, H. M. Stanley, corresponding secretary of the organization, announced Thursday.

A trip through the Carolinas to Washington and Baltimore and a return by boat had been planned. It was to begin May 15, and some of the members said they would not have the time to make the tour that it was postponed until next year.

Georgia Asks Return Of Escaped Convict

Governor L. G. Hardman Thursday issued requisition papers for return to Georgia of Joe Askew, who escaped from the state penitentiary in May, 1922, and now is held in the Illinois state penitentiary.

Askew was sentenced to three years imprisonment from Fulton county on three counts of car breaking. He is known in Illinois as Clarke Roberts, alias Joe Askew, alias Clarke Roberts.

W. A. Denson was appointed agent by the governor to return Askew if the requisition is honored.

HOLLOWAY TO QUIT AS POLICE RECORDER

Announces He Will Not Seek Re-election This Year.

Murphy M. Holloway, for the past half dozen years judge of the second division of the recorder's courts, Thursday announced his intention to relinquish his position on the bench by stating he will not offer for re-nomination in the democratic primary slated for June 18.

Recorder Holloway declared his decision is based on a desire to return to the active practice of law.

There were rumors that several may seek the vacant position, including among whom are John L. Cone, for many years active in political circles and at the present time city paymaster; former Councilman Leo Sudderth and John Chambers, attorney.

"In announcing my intention to quit, I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those who have supported me in the past and to those who pledged their aid if I sought the post for another term," Holloway said.

"My service on the local police court bench has been pleasant and I have formed many friendships. I am convinced, however, that I should relinquish the position and devote my entire attention to the practice of law. It is with a feeling of regret that I leave the place, but I feel that I should consider my future in making my decision."

Holloway made two major recommendations as he stated he will leave the position.

"There are two major recommendations which should be made as I see it on leaving the post of recorder," he declared.

"One is that an assistant solicitor general should be detailed to the police court to catch all cases which should be carried to the higher courts, and the other that the housing conditions at the police station should be improved."

GOVERNOR PROCEEDS WITH FINANCE STUDY

Three Avenues of Investigation Are Followed by Hardman.

The investigation of Governor L. G. Hardman into the financial condition of the state, to give opportunity for which the proposed extra session of the state legislature will be held, was reported Thursday.

Three lines are being followed, by the governor in his investigation, it was learned:

1.—Increase in revenues.
2.—Adjustment of appropriations to conform to revenues.
3.—Reducing overhead through the consolidation and co-ordination of departments.

The governor Thursday conferred with Professor M. H. Bryant, economist attached to the University of Georgia; Chancellor Charles M. Snell, head of the university, and several state officials. Professor Bryant, it was learned, is at work on a survey of Georgia finances, which is expected to be completed in June.

Governor Hardman, who has made no announcements concerning the survey beyond that it would be held, has several other agencies at work on it, it was reported.

"It will require some time to make the investigation and until it is completed I will not be in a position to state definitely whether the extra session will be held and if so, when," the governor stated Thursday.

Cadets Will Parade At Piedmont Today

Exercises of the military departments of the Atlanta and Fulton county high schools will be held in Piedmont Park at 10 o'clock this morning. In addition to company competitive drills, each school will give an exhibition drill followed by a march past a review of 1,500 cadets.

The trophy for the best drilled company and a medal for the best drilled cadet will be presented to the winners while the cadets are in line and just before the march past the review.

LAUREL AND HARDY TO BE ON FOX BILL

Laurel and Hardy are at it again! This time in "Below Zero," their latest laugh-producing release, which will augment an already great program planned for Fox theater patrons during the coming week beginning next Monday.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are known wherever they go. Their appearance at the Fox next week will be the signal for "a good time to be had by all." Their frolics to the tune of their own ludicrous music as street musicians, playing "In the Good Old Summer Time," when the thermometer is frozen and the streets are clogged with snow, will make the vaulted dome at the Fox ring with gaiety. All who remember this inimitable pair in "Blotto," which played at the Fox about two months ago, can get set to enjoy an even funnier production in "Below Zero."

Unemployment Gains.

LONDON, May 1.—(P)—An increase of more than half a million unemployed for April, 1936, as compared with April, 1935, was noted by the ministry of labor. Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, told a questioner in the house of commons today that the number of persons on the registers of the unemployment exchanges April 14 was 506,765 greater than on the same day a year ago.

ERLANGER JUVENILE HIT IN "IT NEVER RAINS"

"It Never Rains," current success at the Erlanger theater, has enjoyed excellent business all this week, with several members of the Erlanger Theater Players and some local girls who are playing extra roles for the week adding new laurels to their reputations as performers.

Particularly does Arthur Jacobson, the clever juvenile of the company, score in the role of a sophomore who is torn between the pangs of puppy love and his desire to become cheer leader for his college.

Intense interest in the production of "Smilin' Through," famous play which the players will give next week, and the local debut of the new leading lady, Margaret Brayton, in the role of Moonlight, has been expressed by all patrons of the Erlanger this week, with an almost constant stream of applicants for seats at the box office.

There will be three more performances of "It Never Rains," tonight and tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock and a bargain matinee tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock.

Cupid Rides High To Unite Couple

SKY HARBOR, Tenn., May 1.—(P)—Flying at an altitude of nearly three miles, Carroll Baker, 21, and Miss Margaret Adams, 18, both of Hopkinsville, Ky., were married this afternoon by the Rev. John F. Baggett, pastor of the Methodist church.

The couple, accompanied by Miss Margaret Miles, bridesmaid; R. L. Lane, best man, and the minister, took off from the flying field about 3 p. m. in a six-passenger Cabin monoplane piloted by Gene Fricks. The plane was decorated with white ribbons. About half an hour was spent in the air. Baker is an aviation student.

Morrow's Home Town Pays Him High Honor

NEW YORK, May 1.—(P)—Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow tonight was awarded the medal of honor of the Town Hall club for having contributed most "toward the enlargement and enrichment of life" during the past year by his services as ambassador to Mexico and as delegate to the London naval limitation conference.

Other candidates for the award were Margaret Sanger, leader of the birth control movement, who was a close second in the balloting; Eva Le Gallienne, founder of the Civic Repertory theater; Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale; and Daisy Fisk Rogers, of the New York Association for the Blind.

ent and 1920 p...ions, were reported Thursday. They were: Center Hill, inclusive of the Battle Hill Sanitarium, 7,500 and 1,694; Peachtree, 2,170 and 1,123; Collins, 5,541 and 4,094; Buckhead, 9,208 and 2,722; and South East, inclusive of the federal penitentiary, 9,410 and 8,313.

It is not known why the city will be added to the census lists. The preliminary count will be decided complete, but the number is conservatively estimated at several thousand. Confidence is expressed that the total population of the city will approach, if it does not exceed 360,000.

Beginning of End.

Thursday marked the beginning of the end of the 1930 census in Atlanta. Two weeks before the house moved on to the census takers in the urban district, had been completed, and Wednesday that part of the work came to an end in rural areas. The remainder of the census taking will be in checking returns and in scrubbing out and adding to the lists those who have been missed.

The time this will consume before the census is completed is problematical. It is believed, however, that the local staff will be engaged for two or three weeks to come.

The complete preliminary report of the city of Atlanta districts follows:

$13,000 SHORTAGE IN HORN'S ACCOUNTS

Former Sheriff Verifies Auditor's Report at Board Meeting.

DONALSONVILLE, Ga., May 1.—(P)—The board of county commissioners was advised Thursday that a shortage of $13,007 had been found in the accounts of former Sheriff I. K. Horn, who disappeared last month. Horn, who returned to Donalsonville a few days ago, appeared before the board and verified the auditor's report of a shortage. The former sheriff said that he would sell real estate and other holdings here and would exert every effort to see that the "county does not lose a penny."

While the auditors who examined Horn's books reported only the $13,007 to the board, the Donalsonville News said today that a shortage of $13,007 was reported in trust funds held by Horn. The News said further that the county tax collector had been given a check for $1,000 by Horn, and quoted the collector as saying that the check was worthless.

The former sheriff first was feared to have stolen the $13,007, but an investigation by officers and by the Florida State News, a Tallahassee newspaper, announced was made, that the automobile had been left as a hoax. Meantime Horn had left the state and two friends who had assisted him in "planting" the automobile in the swamp, admitted their part in the hoax.

Horn returned here recently from Baton Rouge, La., where he had gone, he said, en route "out west." At the city, he reported, a friend met him, at the request of Horn's son. The former sheriff decided to return to Donalsonville. No charges have been filed against him. The Donalsonville News said that attention at this time was being given to plans for settling up Horn's accounts. The News said that the county commissioners, at a previous meeting, advised the tax collector that he probably would have to "make good" the $1,000 check given him by Horn, since it had been held for one year.

Slaying Charged To Three Youths

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 1.—(P)—Claude Adams, Toke Folsom, and J. K. Crosby, youths charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Stanford Cothron, 17, will be given commitment hearings Saturday.

The youths were arrested and charged with murder of Cothron, an orphan, on warrants sworn to by Will Cothron, foster father of the slain youth, following an investigation by officers.

Sheriff J. L. Spivey Thursday denied reports that one of the youths had confessed the crime.

THREE MACON OFFICERS FACE TRIAL IN JUNE

MACON, Ga., May 1.—(P)—The three Macon police officers indicted Tuesday by the Bibb county grand jury for alleged misconduct in the capture last January 20 of a trio of West Virginia escaped convicts, will be docketed for trial in the city court of Macon during the June term, beginning May 2, according to reports today by Solicitor John Y. Roberts.

Mr. Roberts explained that his May term calendar already had been prepared and announced. The May term of court begins Monday.

The indictments, all of which charge misdemeanors under the law, were transferred to the city court by Solicitor-General Charles H. Garrett this morning. The officers and their charges are: Captain Fred Patterson, assault and battery and using profane language in the presence of Mrs. Starnes; Julian Pool, assault and battery, using profane language in the presence of Mrs. Starnes, and shooting into a dwelling occupied by Mrs. Starnes and her children; and Grady Holston, assault and battery.

GEORGIAN, 27, DROWNS IN SAVANNAH RIVER

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 1.—(P)—John H. Simons, 27, a switchman on a local train, was drowned in the Savannah river just opposite the city today.

Simons and two companions were fishing. He attempted to swim the river. The body has not been recovered.

81 TO SHOW TONIGHT FOR WHITE AUDIENCE

Resumption of the Friday night shows for white patrons only at the 81 theater on Decatur street will be marked tonight with a presentation by a company of colored artists which has been acclaimed as the "biggest all-colored show on the road." This is the Dash and Dinah from Carolina organization, which boasts a longer list of featured performers than any other organization, white or colored, and which has scored riotous success wherever it has appeared.

The list of principals is far too long for full mention here, but such performers as Nick Nichols, the Columbia record artist; Irene Butler, soprano; the Theophile sisters, novelty singers; Dorothy Mays, acrobatic dancer; Inkie Gordon, tap dancer, and the Bluebird Orchestra, jazz orchestra, assure a show of Broadway caliber.

The performance for white patrons will begin promptly at 11 o'clock tonight and seat reservations may be secured any time today by calling Jackson 6325.

Confounding Belgium cement constituted a "threat to cement manufacturers of the rest of the world," Representative Fort, republican, New Jersey, said in the House amendment was unenforceable.

Representative Stevenson, democrat, South Carolina, urged acceptance of the Bleame provision. He said his state contemplated an expenditure of $185,000,000 for roads and other public works and the duty would place a tremendous burden on the commonwealth.

LaGuardia's Position.

Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, also favored the exemption amendment. He said a new group affiliated with the Mellon interests and headed by George S. Davis, former president of the Gulf Oil Company, was setting up a cement plant on Neville Island, near Pittsburgh, with a capacity of 1,250,000 barrels.

Representative Sproul, republican, Illinois, denied a combination to fix prices existed in this country. He said from personal experience a buyer of cement that prices differed

Released From Jail To Fight for Estate

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 1.—(P)—Charles H. Fennell, serving a four months sentence for violation of the prohibition laws, will be released from jail long enough to fight for his estate valued at approximately $25,000, his attorney said Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Fennell, his divorced wife, has filed a bill in equity asking alimony and a share of the property, contending she is joint owner of the property even though it is in his name, because she helped him accumulate the estate.

Aaron Gravich, Fennell's attorney, said Judge Barrett, of the federal court at Augusta, had signed an order releasing Fennell from jail until after the chancery trial. The hearing has been set for Monday.

MACON FLOWER SHOW DRAWS HUGE DISPLAY

MACON, Ga., May 1.—(P)—With thousands of brilliant-colored flowers banked against a Georgia background of pine, the vast domed Macon auditorium Thursday became a fair-land of fragile blooms. It was the annual spring flower show of the Bibb County Flower Club—considered the best so far—and the haven of flower lovers throughout Georgia.

Ranging from a single bloom to elaborate exhibits of garden clubs, flowers of every imaginable hue were massed about the roomy club.

The red, pink and white of roses, the lavender of iris and the innumerable shades of dozens of other flowers shone from every corner of the building in a dazzling array of color.

The auditorium was opened to the public at noon, after judging had been completed, and thousands of middle Georgians filed through to see the displays. The crowd was still large at midnight.

Mrs. Kenneth Dunwoody won first prize for her garden at Rivoli. There were 40 entrants based on improvements since last year.

Two medals presented by the American Rose Society were presented for the best three and six blooms of roses to Mrs. Jobe Taylor, Jr., and J. H. Porter, respectively. The former, Mr. Porter also won the Charles N. Woodruff challenge cup for the best rose in the show.

Mrs. Robert Hatcher won two cups for the best displays of annuals and perennials, while Miss Isabel Kinnett won the iris cup presented by the Bibb home demonstration council. The cups won by Mrs. Hatcher were given by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Flournoy and Mr. and Mrs. Porter.

The city also donated the free use of the municipal swimming pool, which is located on Courthouse street, to the visitors and several took advantage of the opportunity to enjoy a swim. During the afternoon also there was a formal opening of the modern hospital recently erected here by Dr. R. C

CHARLES A. GLAWSON, OF MACON, SUICIDES

Prominent Macon Attorney Found Fatally Wounded in Park.

MACON, Ga., May 1.—(AP)—A coroner's jury late Thursday afternoon held that Charles A. Glawson, Macon attorney, fired a bullet into his head at Central City park this morning and that the act was suicide. While two notes were left by Mr. Glawson, telling where his body could be found, according to the police, neither of these was introduced before the jury.

Attorney Roland Ellis, law partner of Mr. Glawson, informed the coroner by telephone that if there was any doubt in the jury's mind as to the cause of death he would gladly produce the notes.

He was found fatally wounded inside the race track at Central City early Thursday morning and died in a hospital shortly before 9 a. m.

Officers reported finding a .38-caliber pistol beside his body with two shots fired and with four other bullets trigger-mechanism but not expended. He had no money on his person.

Roland Ellis, his law partner, could assign no motive for suicide. John Watts, caretaker at the park, found Mr. Glawson seriously wounded about 6:30 a. m. He was unconscious, Watts said, and died without speaking.

Jud Brown, operator of a soft drink establishment near the track, said he heard a shot about 6 a. m. and made no investigation.

Police and physicians could not identify Mr. Glawson at first and it was 11 a. m. before friends identified the body.

He is survived by his widow, who was at their country home near Gray when the tragedy occurred, and two brothers, J. and Edgar Glawson.

Mrs. Glawson, at her home at Gray today, received a letter written by her husband before he went to Central City park to end his life, in which he said that "I cannot bear to see the old home place sold. I love every flower here."

It would have been necessary to sell the old Glawson home place, with its peach orchards, within the next few days, friends said, and he had always said it would be sold only "over my dead body."

Another letter was written to his law partner and a third to his stenographer directed the disposition of certain papers.

Merchant Slain At Concord, Ga.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., May 1.—E. M. Hobbs, 64, a native of Macon county, was found dead Thursday morning, shot through the temple, in a country store which he was operating at Concord, 9 miles from Ellaville. His body was found lying on the floor by two negro children who came to the store.

The store was a two-story building, and he lived alone on the second floor. His shoes were unlaced and two unopened Coca-Cola bottles were on the floor near his hands. The store was found empty.

No money or pocketbook was found on him, although customers at the store Wednesday afternoon saw him with several dollars. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of murder, but no clues as to the murderer or murderers have been found. The funeral services will be conducted at Bethlehem cemetery Friday morning.

Hobbs is survived by a sister, Mrs. B. B. Barfield, of Fort Valley; four brothers, Frank, of Albany; Son, of Alabama; G. W. and Herbert, of Fort Valley; Walter C., of Montezuma; Willie, of Americus; and one daughter, Mrs. Annie Belle Childer, of Americus.

U. S. COURT ADMITS GEORGIA WOMAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—A brilliant young Georgia woman—Miss Ellayne Strickland, of Duluth—was Wednesday admitted to practice in the United States supreme court. She was introduced to the court by Attorney Robert C. Alston, of Atlanta, in whose office she was employed for some time prior to coming to Washington a year or two ago to take up the duties in the office of the general counsel of the bureau of internal revenue, where she has made a splendid record.

Miss Strickland is one of the few women graduates of the Lamar School of Law at Emory University, and for a time was in the office of the clerk of the Georgia court of appeals.

BUILDING PROGRAM LAUNCHED IN VALDOSTA

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 1.—Public work amounting to more than half a million dollars will be under way in this section by the first of June. The larger portion of it will be highway construction.

The first move in this direction is expected to come at the early meeting of the state highway commission next week, when the contract will be let for repaving and repaving a portion of United States Route No. 41, south of Valdosta.

COLUMBUS FLOWER DAY PROVES RARE SUCCESS

Mrs. Reynolds Flournoy Wins Grand Prize; Charter Circle Gets Blue Ribbon.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 1.—The second annual flower show given by the Garden Club of Columbus took place Thursday at exhibit hall at the fair grounds, attracting a crowd of approximately 3,000 people from every walk in life.

With the choicest blooms from the gardens of Columbus gathered under one roof, it is small wonder that the display tables laden with gorgeous seasonal annuals, rare perennials, fragrant roses, beautiful shrubs and wild flowers.

Separating these displays were the elaborate collectible exhibits of the club which formed the spectacular feature of the show. Here were arranged garden projects of all varieties from the ever-changing old-fashioned garden to the beautification of the city depot.

The grand prize, a bird bath, given for the outstanding individual exhibit, was won by Mrs. Reynolds Flournoy for her "Still Life." Mrs. Flournoy exhibited an antique vase filled with garden flowers and framed against a background of blue velvet.

Charter Circle Wins Blue Ribbon.
The blue ribbon for the club exhibit went to the Charter Circle for its perfectly executed rock garden. The garden was the work of a committee headed by Mrs. James W. Woodruff, president of the club.

Auto Overturns, Five Are Hurt

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 1.—Mrs. John Magee, of Charleston, S. C., is in the "red" hospital here with perhaps fatal injuries received in an automobile wreck on the highway between Valdosta and Quitman Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Magee and her three children, Louise, Franklin and Douglas, also were brought here for treatment. However, it was found that none of the three children suffered more than ordinary cuts. Mrs. Magee, about 40 years of age, appears to have a very serious spinal fracture and fears are entertained for her recovery.

Immediately after the accident ambulances were called from both Quitman and Valdosta and "carried the patients here for treatment."

The Magee party was en route from Charleston, S. C., to Pelham and the car, a large Buick, was traveling at a high speed on the highway. It left the paving and turned over, being badly wrecked. Douglas Magee, son of Mrs. Magee, is about 18 years of age, and the others are younger.

Negro Convicted Of Manslaughter

ROME, Ga., May 1.—Will Montgomery, negro, charged with the murder of Ruby Hill, negro, last November, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter and sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary by a Floyd county jury here Thursday afternoon.

The woman was killed while in a car with her husband, and it was first thought she had been shot. Investigation by a coroner's jury later showed that a rock thrown into the car was the cause of her death.

Eberhardt is trustee for E. Kunnes, bankrupt, who is under bonds totaling $12,500 for fraudulent bankruptcy, concealment of assets, conspiracy and perjury. Kunnes is alleged to have shipped six cases of merchandise to John Smith in Augusta. There are quite a few John Smiths in Augusta but none has been found who received the goods and service of a rule nisi is difficult.

RECEIVER OF BANK FILES SUIT ON NOTES

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 1.—(AP)—Albert F. McCook, as receiver of the First National Bank of Lumpkin, Thursday filed in federal court here a suit on two notes and petition for assessment on five shares of bank stock of $100 a share, against E. A. Morton and Mrs. Willanna Gurr Morton, his wife, both of Lumpkin.

The notes, alleged to have been made March 6, 1929, were for $1,196 and $1,090. The Lumpkin bank failed last December.

In his petition McCook alleged that Morton is insolvent, and asks that a receiver be appointed. He also asked for cancellation of deeds to several pieces of property made over by Morton to his wife last fall, and for invalidation of the transfer of the five shares of bank stock to the minor children of the defendants.

Forty-Fifth Installment.

"We'll soon settle the point!" said Burke savagely. "Assemble all available cars. Have Daily in charge. I want everything ready to raid that house in five minutes from now!"

"Great Head Centre!" Roscoe exclaimed. "I begin to see light! There's something I must do. If I'm late, start without me!"

Meanwhile, down at his post, Stevens turned to stare over the wicket gate. He dropped his cigar and set his heel on it. Something in the Cardinal's Garden was different; in vain he tried to tell himself that his imagination was playing tricks. Plain fact answered him. The sundial had altered. Trained to swift action, Stevens plunged for his automatic when his hand was seized from behind. He turned in a flash. Drake Roscoe stood at his elbow!

"Stay where you are," Roscoe ordered. "If Camper moves, tell him to stick to his post. If I shout 'Carry on,' whatever I do, or what ever happens, stay here. This garden must be covered all the time!"

Then Roscoe went racing down the steps, around the tiled path, and pulled up short before the sundial. The front of the square pedestal had disappeared! Where it had been was a black cavity! He had come prepared for other measures, suddenly inspired by Ellis's report. This development was wholly unforeseen. He turned his electric torch into the cavity.

The light shone fully upon a bearded face—that of a man standing in the hollow under the sundial so that his shoulders were no higher than Roscoe's knees!

"Thank Heaven, I've found you so soon, Lieutenant," said the apparition. "Tom Flynn!"

"The same, your honor. Was you expectin' me like?"

"It's the game of the caves, your honor! Quick! Ye have ten minutes to save the colleen! Stoop and come down!"

"Where are we 'ing?"

"To the big house on the hill. They call it G. H. Q." "I knew it!" Roscoe shouted. He entered the cavity.

The raid had been fixed by timing. At a prearranged moment the raiding party was to rush for the house. Surprise was supremely important, Burke argued.

Now, watch in hand, he stood with a group of five raiders—waiting. From the distant house no sound came. Then:

"Go to it, boys!" said Burke. "Hang on to this ladder, you. He went up the ladder, personally leading the raid. The high summit gained, grapples were reversed, and the ladders lowered on the further side. Burke's men found themselves in a derelict kitchen garden. Further north a second party under Ellis came over in full view. No greetings were exchanged. Automatics ready, they all ran for the house. Other parties carried hatchets and crowbars.

"If Roscoe's right," Burke panted, "this is the end of the zones!"

At which time, below in the cutting under Peter Champion's garden, Drake Roscoe watched his half-demented guide operate the simple gear which opened and closed the pedestal supporting the sundial.

"It was made more'n a year ago," said Tom Flynn. "They had Champion covered from the time he bought the house. He was one of the geese that laid the golden eggs. When he had the old garden made, it was the zones did the job for him!"

"What's that, Flynn?"

"The caverns! The workmen that put up the sundial was zone men! There! It's shut now. Shine your torch on me back, lieutenant, and follow close. We're off for G. H. Q.—the house that they bought from Mike Gollane because it was over a gorge of the caverns."

"The caverns!" Roscoe exclaimed. "But the river is between here and Manhattan!"

"Small difference!" Flynn called back. "The caves as far below the river bed. There's four passages goes under, but only one that can be used. It crosses under Hell Gate and there's three curtains of water. Boss, that I was the first to pass! They wear rubbers when they cross. Stop, Boss! They had reached a point where the thick entered a corridor of nearly black rock.

"Drowse the glim!" Roscoe extinguished the torch. "Port" is the route to Manhattan," said Flynn. "Starboard" is the way to G. H. Q. Listen! You'll hear the water."

Silent, distant, whispering through the subterranean silence, came a sound of falling water. Then, as they listened, came a harsher sound, from the opposite direction! Shots . . . muffled . . . cries . . . a vague clamor . . . more shots. Approaching footsteps, many of them, became audible above the dim uppour.

"Sure, it's the staff leavin'!" said Flynn calmly. "Draw back a step, Lieutenant. They'll go straight ahead!"

Possessed by a sense of nightmare phantasy, Drake Roscoe from the shelter of the cutting watched a procession of condemned demons. Each man, carried a torch; and Roscoe counted twenty. Identification was impossible. As the last straggler went by, craning from the angle:

"They'll be waitin' for me at the Purple Gate," said Flynn. "They'll wait forever."

"What'd you mean?"

"They're downed, your honor! There's a great fire on the east side of the city tonight. Entrance Number Two, the only one they know, now, was blown up an hour ago!"

Lighting his way with an electric torch, a man came down the rock corridor. He carried an insensible woman in his arms.

"Back, your honor!" whispered Flynn. "Group Master I!"

Roscoe grasped Flynn in no uncertain hold and spoke in the ex-bo'sun's ear.

"Leave him to me," he said. . . . The red light in the lacquer cabinet faded out. Great Head Centre had issued her last order.

Into the quietude of the white-domed room broke the discords of sound human and mechanical. Hatchets were at work beyond the western wall. Hoarse voices spoke unintelligibly.

The Duchesse de Greuze stood up. Her coldly beautiful face was pale as marble. Taking up the lacquer cabinet, she tore it from the cable with which it was connected and dashed it on the floor.

He crossed to a panel in the circular wall and pressed a button concealed in the framework. In the interval which followed, the head of a hatchet made a momentary appearance through a panel behind the long table. The hidden door behind which the duchesse stood, opened. It revealed the car of an elevator. Drake Roscoe stepped out. The two faced one another; then:

"Because you are the last to leave the sinking ship," said Roscoe. "I admire you. You'd have made a grand sailor. But for Great Head Centre I haven't a scrap of sympathy."

The hatchet triumphed. Police Captain Daly crashed into the room. Deputy Commissioner Burke, followed.

"Where is Madame Cerna," he asked.

"Safe! There's been murder, I'm afraid, but she is back in Champion's home now."

Burke turned to the woman. Members of the raiding party were coming in through the opening. The wrenching and tearing below the floor carried on unrelentingly.

"Duchesse," said the deputy commissioner, "this is the most embarrassing moment of my life. . . ."

"The Duchesse de Greuze," Roscoe interrupted, "has earned my respectful admiration. But she is Great Head Centre."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

"Duchesse," said Deputy Commissioner Burke, "you are under arrest."

CAPONE RETURNS FROM HAVANA VISIT

He and Seven Friends Are Unmolested by Florida
Officers.

MIAMI, Fla., May 1.—(P)—Completing a three-day tour of Havana, including a visit to the office of Havana's chief of secret police, Scarface Al Capone returned to Miami at 5:30 p. m. e. s. t., today aboard the Nyrbu Air Liner Cuba.

He was accompanied by seven friends who left here with him by airplane Tuesday morning. They were: J. F. Gordon, his attorney; R. A. Gordon, Albert J. Prepeno, Harry Reid, Sylvester Agolia, Nicholas J. Carew and Dr. A. J. Bertram.

As the party disembarked from the liner they went through customs at the flying company's dinner key base. After spending ten minutes in the customs office the group went aboard a small boat and headed into Bay Biscayne and toward Capone's palatial residence on Palm Island, Miami Beach. Two automobiles, brought to the dinner key base by John and Albert Capone, the Chicago racketeer's brothers, left the base as the boat departed and went to Miami.

Officials of the air line said Capone had made arrangements to have company cars meet him and his friends at a private pier at the foot of Eighth street, but their plans apparently were changed to allow the arrivals from Cuba to embark at Capone's home.

The gangster faces recessed hearing on a petition filed some time ago by N. Vernon Hawthorne, state attorney, to padlock the Capone residence on Palm Island under the provisions of the Florida nuisance law. First hearing on the petition was held Saturday, but was recessed to permit Criminal Court Judge Paul Burns to decide arguments of defense and state attorneys against and for the petition.

Capone was protected from arrest by 20 Florida sheriffs without due process of law last Friday in a permanent restraining order issued by Federal Judge Halsted Ritter.

He came here April 20 for what tion.

Mayor Walker Sails For Bermuda to Rest

NEW YORK, May 1.—(P)—Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, sailed today for Bermuda, accompanied only by his valet.

His departure on the Royal Mail liner Arcadian was made quietly and unannounced.

Mr. Walker had been in bed several days, verging on a nervous breakdown.

Beauty and Splendor Reign as Opera Season Opens

Ladies in their brilliant opera dress and their escorts decked in full evening clothes pervaded the city auditorium with beauty and splendor Thursday night as the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, presenting "Louise," opened Atlanta's opera season. This remarkable photograph, taken by Mr. Rogers from the auditorium balcony, was "shot" during the first scene of the performance.

Newspaper Describes Aerial Rum Service

DETROIT, May 1.—(P)—The Detroit Free Press says that for two weeks a licensed air freight line with six planes has made daily trips to the United States from Walkerville, Ont., with capacity cargoes of liquor.

The exportation has been carried on under the supervision of Canadian customs officers.

Duncan B. McColl, manager of the corporation controlling the Walkerville airport, says liquor exporters bring the freight to the field in trucks to be loaded into planes.

McColl said he did not know the location of the American terminal of the air freight line.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 1.—(P)—Under present regulations liquor may legally be exported by airplane from airports if proper clearances are obtained. Legality will cease when the liquor export bill goes into force, probably June 1.

The bill prohibits all clearances of liquor shipments destined for United States or other countries into which the importation of liquor is forbidden. The bill now stands for third reading in the senate and no difficulty is expected in connection with its final passage.

TRAGEDY CLIMAXES WIFE'S COURT ACTION

WICKLIFFE, Ky., May 1.—(P)—One hour after she had been granted custody of her three-year-old daughter in circuit court here today, Mrs. Robert Edwards, 38, was dead and her husband probably fatally wounded. A shot he fired at a small daughter went wild.

Edwards followed his wife home, shot her through the throat three times, shot at the baby and missed, then sent a bullet through his own head. He is expected to die.

Edwards is said to have told his wife that if she was granted a divorce he would follow her to Illinois and kill her, the child, and Mrs. Edwards' mother.

Neighbors heard the shots and rushed to the Edwards' house in the eastern part of Wickliffe, where they discovered the tragedy.

Authorities immediately notified Edwards' relatives in Cairo, Ill.

Massachusetts Court Disbars Ex-Governor

BOSTON, Mass., May 1.—(P)—Judge George A. Sanderson, of the Massachusetts supreme court, today ordered the disbarment of former Governor John L. Bates on the ground of gross misconduct.

The petition for the disbarment of Bates was brought before the court by the Boston Bar Association which specifically charged that he had failed to use funds of clients for the purposes intended by them.

Fair Weather Seen for Opera Goers This Week

Fair weather, opera weather, Friday with no prospect of showers at least through Saturday was the forecast made by the weather bureau Thursday.

A temperature of 80 to 82 degrees was expected for this afternoon. The early morning thermometer reading will be in the low sixties.

Thursday's high temperature was 77 degrees. Low was 61.

Protestant Sects Merge in Southeast

RALEIGH, N. C., May 1.—(P)—Merger of the Christian and Congregational churches in the southeast was perfected here today with adoption by the Southern Christian conference convention of a report from a joint committee on unity. The Congregational church had already approved the report.

The action was taken as a part of a proposed general merger of the two denominations throughout the country.

Alabamian To Die For Wife Murder

ANDALUSIA, Ala., May 1.—(P)—Fillman E. Davis, insurance salesman of Florida was this afternoon found guilty of first degree murder and given the death penalty for slaying his wife late last February. The case went to the jury in the Covington county circuit court at 3:20 p. m., and the verdict was returned three hours later.

The trial, which started Tuesday, was occupied today with the examination of a number of rebuttal witnesses with arguments by Solicitor Robert C. Reid, for the state, and E. O. Baldwin and A. R. Powell for the defense.

Solicitor Reid described the crime one of the most brutal in the history of the county and asked that Davis be given the death sentence.

Attorneys for the defense based their argument on Davis' plea of insanity, declaring that he had been dependent all his life on his parents for a livelihood.

Davis, who did not take the stand, previously had confessed that he gave his wife a poison potion while in Opp, and that he wrecked their automobile after she was dead to make it appear she was killed in the wreck.

George Addresses Carolina Lawyers

PINEHURST, N. C., May 1.—(P)—Addressing the opening session here tonight of the annual convention of the North Carolina Bar Association, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, warned the bar of the state against "the alarming method by which executive power is being extended through executive boards and bureaus" in the United States.

Reviewing the formation of this country and the doctrines written into the constitution, Senator George declared that "the new principle in our system of government is the concept of freedom as the inalienable right of the individual as a responsible, moral being, to be a safeguard in organized law."

Unwillingness of the legislative branch of the government, the speaker said, "to assume constitutional responsibilities and obligations is an invitation to the executive branch to exercise power demanding execution—even as the failure of the state to meet social demands is an invitation to the federal government to occupy the field."

Senator George stated that the government in its present work of "outlining and shaping great questions of public policy, may be rightfully reminded that our civilization, even by our organized law, is grounded upon the doctrine of the general welfare. As a great citizen reminds us, we must make and keep America a happy place for the many, or else it will become a very uncomfortable place for the few."

Toughest Horse Wins Two Bouts With Motorists

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 1.—(P)—Mr. Cox's shock proof horse, fittingly dubbed "Old Ironsides," has hung up another pair of victories in his struggle for honors as the toughest of the horse world.

Mr. Cox's horse, seized with spring wanderlust, ambled onto the highway near here after dark and allowed Mr. George Thunder to drive headlong into him in the Thunder coupe, damaging the car to a considerable extent. Old Ironsides, however, was unmarked. Mr. Thunder, mad as his name, got a deputy sheriff and set out in search of Mr. Cox, planning to ask him kindly to keep his tough-hided beast off the highway.

While they searched another crash echoed over the countryside, returning the deputy, Mr. Thunder and Mr. Cox found a second wrecked car, with its owner, Walter Mitchell, surveying the damage. Old Ironsides, the cause of it all, was nearby, contentedly munching roadside grass. "Didn't even scratch the old horse hide," proudly said Mr. Cox, as he paid the damages and led the toughest horse in these parts into less expensive pastures.

Mrs. Gilkey Elected President of Y.W.C.A.

Other officers elected included Miss Ida Allerton, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. George F. Blackie, Nashville, Tenn., first and second vice presidents; Miss Helen M. Shirk, Topeka, Kan., and Miss Leona MacGeorge, St. Paul, Minn., secretaries.

During Wednesday's session the delegates decided to broaden the association's foreign field by establishing a Y. W. C. A. in Cuba. Improvement in the working conditions of women wage earners, particularly those employed in households and in the textile industry, was advocated in resolutions.

38-YEAR-OLD RECTOR CONSECRATED BISHOP

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 1.—(P)—The Rev. Henry Wise Hobson, former rector at All Saints Episcopal church, Worcester, Mass., today was elevated to bishop coadjutor of the diocese of southern Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Hobson, 38 years of age and the youngest bishop in America, was consecrated by the oldest Episcopal bishop in the world, Bishop Boyd Vincent.

Plans for Medical Building Get Approval of Physicians

Recommendations of Special Committee Are Backed by Doctors at Meeting

Fulfillment of the proposal to erect a new office building on the site of the fire-damaged Doctors' building at Peachtree and Pine streets was regarded as assured Thursday night following favorable action taken at a meeting of members of the medical profession whose offices were located in the old structure.

Recommendations of a special committee of the doctors that the proposal of the Marlborough Company, which owns the Doctors' building property, be accepted was approved at the general meeting of the medical men Thursday. The action was looked upon as the final step in connection with the plan to build.

While details of the proposed building are regarded as tentative, subject to alteration by the Marlborough Company, comprised of the Orr estate heirs, in general as presented to the doctors' committee they call for an 11-story modern fire-proof office structure, with garage and ground-floor store units, costing about $750,000 to $800,000.

Although the only plans considered at the doctors' meeting Thursday were those of the Marlborough Company as recommended by the special committee, considerable interest attached itself to announcement of a proposal of a new office building for the medical profession made public for the first time.

Mr. J. Nisbet Marve, of the Atlanta architectural firm Marve, Alger & Vinour, stated that his concern has been commissioned to prepare plans for a $1,000,000 office building for the medical group.

While not making known the name of his company's client, Mr. Marve said the commission was from local parties with adequate eastern financial and construction connections. The proposed building would be located on Peachtree street between Baker and Alexander streets, Mr. Marve explained.

Since destruction of the Doctors' building by fire, two other proposed construction developments have been announced. One consisted of a $1,000,000 structure to be erected on Peachtree street and Medical Arts place, just north of the Medical Arts

By doing business in widely diversified fields of industrial and community life, the $7.00 Preferred Shareholders of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation enjoy an additional safeguard of not being dependent upon one or several customers or industries for earnings. This will mean regular dividends. The company now serves and will presently supply through distributing companies numerous cities and industries located throughout the most prosperous sections of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. (adv.)

building, while the other called for erection of a six-story annex to the present Medical Arts building, in the rear portion over the garage. The recommendation of the doctors favoring a new development by the Marlborough Company on the site of the destroyed Doctors' building was regarded in building circles as likely to eliminate other plans, so far as the immediate future was concerned.

Announcement that Pringle & Smith, architects for the Marlborough Company, would have preliminary plans ready by the end of this week was forthcoming following the doctors' general session Thursday, indicating that an immediate start would be made on the Peachtree and Pine street structure to provide permanent quarters for the medical men now in temporary locations as quickly as possible.

Paul Miller is handling arrangements for the Orr heirs of the Marlborough Company, represented by Hunter Perry, of the Adams-Cates Company, real estate agents.

The property owned by the Marlborough Company at Peachtree and Pine has a frontage of 150 feet on Peachtree street, extending back on the north line 300 feet and on Pine street 200 feet. While only a portion of this was occupied by the old Doctors' building, it is understood that the new structure and the garage will cover considerably more ground space as provided by the property owned by the company.

Atlanta Odd Fellows Celebrate Founding

The 11th anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows was celebrated Thursday night by Central Lodge, No. 28; Schiller Lodge, No. 71; Capitol Lodge, No. 60, and Georgia Rebekah, No. 17, in a combined ceremony.

Paul L. Lindsay, a member of the legislative committee of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World, was the principal speaker. James E. Wargen, of Georgia Rebekah Lodge, presided over the musical program.

The sixteenth division, embracing the encampment branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will meet with Empire Encampment No. 12, at 8 o'clock tonight, at 133-1-2 West Baker street. All members of the encampment branch of the order, regardless of their standing, are cordially invited to be present.

Among grand lodge officers expected to be present are: Allen Turner, grand patriarch of Georgia; Dorsey Davis, Georgia grand master; Rev. M. D. Collins, deputy grand master; Paul L. Lindsay, past grand master; T. H. Robertson, of Gainesville, grand scribe; J. Ed. Bodenhamer, grand treasurer; Homer C. Hall, grand inside sentinel of the grand encampment; and Young H. Frasier, grand herald.

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Rock Island Railroad company today approved increasing the capital stock 30 millions to $170,000,000, the issuing of $32,228,000 in 30-year 4-1/2 per cent convertible bonds and a proposal to renew the company's organization under Illinois and Iowa laws.

HUDDLESTON PRAISES 'JAYCEE' CAMPAIGN

Progress and Prosperity Drive Launched at Luncheon

Praise for the progress and prosperity campaign of the Junior Chamber of Commerce as a move to give inspiration and encouragement in bringing about greater prosperity and happiness to the city was given yesterday by Press Huddleston, advertising manager of Rogers, Inc., at the weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He paid tribute to the members for excellent work in the campaign and urged full co-operation in the movement on the part of businessmen.

"There is no stronger or more virile organization in this city than the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce," he said. "Among the older citizens there should be at all times a spirit of co-operation with these young men when they are attempting to bring about better and happier conditions and a more progressive spirit."

Mr. Huddleston stated that the big parade proposed for May 22, as the climax to the campaign of reawakening, should be participated in by every commercial and industrial concern in the city and that the pageant at the auditorium on the evening of the same day should draw a tremendous crowd.

The address was the first of a new series of meetings to be held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as part of its progress and prosperity campaign. Mr. Huddleston discussed "What Atlanta Needs," declaring that "Atlanta needs just now a political and governmental house-cleaning, and more leadership than at any time in the past."

The entertainment features included Miss Louise Huddleston, Mary Agnes Crawford, Ruth Haner and Mr. and Mrs. Staley.

9-Month Tobacco Bill Is $333,071,486.01

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(UN)—The privilege of smoking, chewing and using snuff cost the public $333,071,486.01 for the first nine months of the fiscal year 1936, treasury department figures revealed today.

Taxes collected on cigarettes amounted to over two-thirds this sum, the government realizing $263,104,168.29 on this item. Snuff is becoming more popular, the figures indicate, showing a tax of $5,514,395.40 for the first nine months as compared with $5,281,224.08 for the same period of the 1935 fiscal year.

Over $3,000,000 in taxes were collected on playing cards, the treasury reported.

RETIRED BANKER DIES IN 12-STORY PLUNGE

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP)—Louis Kramer, 69, a retired banker, was killed in a fall today from a window on the 12th floor of a fashionable apartment house in Park avenue.

Detectives who investigated said they believed Kramer became dizzy while standing at an open window and fell. It was some time before his body, which tumbled to a rear courtyard, could be identified.

Reds May Day Demonstration Proves Big Dad in Atlanta

POOH-POOH, SAYS CHIEF BEAVERS, IN COMMENT

If all the advance notices the Communists have "issued" concerning their protest demonstrations could be placed end to end, they would probably reach to a new planet.

If all they have held in Atlanta, after much red heralding, could be concentrated in one spot they would not fill comfortably the tiniest cell in the Atlanta police station.

Although at least 100 people are out of work in Atlanta—a figure which compares most favorably with other cities—the Communists could attract only twenty-two to the demonstration they had advertised, by volitional hand bill distribution, would take place Thursday—May Day in the Soviet calendar—in and around the new city hall.

And the sad, sad part about the whole thing was that even the faithful, if loafing, twenty-two who formed the noble but thin line of review, didn't get to see one single, or triple-plated Communist in the precious five minutes they spent on their feet.

As for doubling the guard and oiling up the riot guns and those kind of things, Chief James L. Beavers, pressed by an enterprising reporter for a statement about the whole thing, shifted a stogie from his stern-visaged jaw, blew a couple of smoke rings, and said:

"Poo-hoo and a couple of poo-hoo."

er ice trays are included as regular equipment.

The new refrigerator, now on display, is built in nine and 12 cubic foot models only. It is finished in porcelain-on-steel and in its exterior appearance does not differ from regular household models.

Youth Is Better Spiritually Than Ever, Leader Says

"This much painted younger generation is spiritually much better off than in the good old days our fathers talk of," Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor and the World's Christian Endeavor Union, said while in Atlanta Thursday in attendance upon the annual meeting of the southern advisory committee of his organization.

"The answer is simple," the noted preacher explained. "We are living in an age of keyed-up emotion, to which mental frankness is a necessity. Our young people are, perhaps, given misnomers because of their attempts to find out for themselves just what constitutes moral right and wrong. There is none of the inhibited hesitancy which kept previous younger generations from putting their thoughts into words."

"Student talk of atheism," he added, "is the natural rebuff of modern youth enjoying first mental freedom. Many talk of atheism but always with a question. Many talk of disbelief but they are ultimately convinced by incontrovertible Biblical logic."

Frigidaire Announces De Luxe Refrigerator

DAYTON, Ohio, May 1.—(Special.) A de luxe electric refrigerator, with five compartments, four temperatures and two humidity ranges was announced today by Frigidaire Corporation. It has special storage space for bottled goods, frozen foods and ice cubes, according to the announcement.

The interior of the right side of the cabinet is designed in the conventional manner for shelf storage. The interior of the left side is reached through two extra doors which shut in the lower temperatures provided in this half of the cabinet. Two moist air compartments afford space for more than a peck of leafy vegetables. Large

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE IS OUT OF SORTS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The anxious you will seldom find Possessors of a tranquil mind.

—Danny Meadow Mouse.

Peter Rabbit was hopping along, lumpy-lumpy-lip, over near the Long Lane that leads from Farmer Brown's barnyard down to the cornfield on the Green Meadows. It was early in the morning and he was on his way home to the dear Old Briar-patch.

"I'm a little late," thought Peter. "Yes, sir, I'm a little late. I ought to have started for home sooner. I hope that Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy and Old Man Coyote are nowhere around. I don't believe they are. And I hope Redtail the Hawk isn't hunting over this way. Oh dear, I do believe there is old Whitetail the Mouse. He'll be all right."

So Peter turned into the bushes along the Long Lane and prepared to make himself comfortable.

Peter had been sitting there half-dozing for some time when a faint rustle of dry leaves caused him to open his eyes in a hurry. "The rustle of dry leaves, especially when none of the Merry Little Breezes happens to be about, is always a matter of suspicion," Peter knew by the sound that small feet were rustling those leaves. Shadow the Weasel has small feet, for he is a small person. So Peter couldn't help being anxious.

In a moment, however, his anxiety was relieved. He saw a chunky gray-coated small person with a short tail. It was Danny Meadow Mouse. There was nothing to fear from Danny. Peter and Danny had been friends ever since Peter could remember.

"Hello, Danny Meadow Mouse," cried Peter.

Danny jumped, for he hadn't seen Peter. "Hello, yourself!" he replied in his squeaky little voice. It was a cross voice. It was very plain that Danny felt out of sorts.

"What are you doing over here?" demanded Peter.

"That's isn't the question at all," retorted Danny. "It is, what are you doing over here? I live here."

"The last I knew, you were living out on the Green Meadows," said Peter. "I don't have to tell you every time I move, do I?" retorted Danny, crossly. "I've been living over here all this winter."

"Is Nanny Meadow Mouse with you?" asked Peter.

"Of course she is," replied Danny. "You don't for a minute suppose I would be living over here all alone, do you?"

"Where is Nanny?" asked Peter.

"She isn't far away," replied Danny. "She's taking care of the children and trying to make up her mind where we'll move to."

"Move?" exclaimed Peter. "Why do you want to move?"

"On account of the neighbors," replied Danny. "We've got some new neighbors and now we've got to move."

Peter looked all around, as if he expected to see those new neighbors. "What's the matter with those neighbors?" he demanded. "Don't you like them? Or is it that they don't like you?"

"I don't like them and they don't like me," replied Danny Meadow Mouse. "And that's why I've got to move. Just as soon as we get this family off our hands, Nanny and I are going to find a safer place for the next family. Life is just one worry after another. Here we are with a good place to live, plenty to eat without too much work to get it, and everything fine, when these new neighbors had to move in. The trouble is, I don't know where to move too."

Unpaid Bills To Net $10,000 for Atlanta

Atlanta was at least $10,000 richer Thursday through collection of unpaid bills and charges for work done by the borough for various utility companies since 1924.

Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, began an audit of the books of the department several weeks ago, and found that charges in some instances had been insufficient. He called attention of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, to the matter, and was instructed to proceed with the audit.

W. E. Chambers then was detailed to the task. There will be further collections, it was intimated.

"LOUISE" PLEASES VAST AUDIENCE OF MUSIC LOVERS "IL TROVATORE" WILL BE SUNG THIS EVENING

Opening Opera Pleases Many Music Lovers

"Louise," Charpentier's musical romance of Bohemian life in Paris, opened the 1930 grand opera season in Atlanta last evening at the city auditorium and added another charming and picturesque opera to the list of those which have assembled music lovers here. All of the innate charm of the French found its way into this fascinating four-act opera which was conducted by Maestro Louis Hasselmann. The distant lights of Paris, as seen from the Montmartre section of Paris, the scene of the love making of Louise and Julien, made the setting of the third act one of the most beautiful which has ever been presented by the Metropolitan. The ballet and the delightful comedy in the sewing room scene added variety and color to the lovely presentation.

The opera brought to the fore an old favorite among opera stars, Lucrezia Bori, who captivated her audience with "Depuis le Jour," in the third act, and Antonin Trantoul, the Metropolitan's first new French tenor in twenty years, who as Julien, for whom Louise leaves home and family, readily won the acclaim of the large and splendid audience which witnessed the performance. Ina Bourskaya, the gifted contralto, was the mother, and Leon Rothier, himself a Frenchman, impersonated with rare feeling the stern but affectionate father. Other artists in the cast were: Aida Doninelli, Charlotte Ryan, Henriette Wakefield, Thalia Sabanieva, Minnie Egner, Phradie Wells, Pearl Besuner, Maria Savage, Mildred Parisette, Philine Falco, Gladys Swarthout, Alfredo Gandolfi, Paolo Ananian, Joseph Macpherson, Millo Picco, Marek Windheim, Giordano Faltrineri, George Cebanovsky, Alfio Tedesco, Louis D'Angelo, Angelo Bada, Lamberto Belleri, Carlo Coscia. Scene dansante, by Rita De Leporte.

A brilliant and enthusiastic audience witnessed the initial performance in Atlanta of "Louise," which presented the heroine's struggle between affection for family and home and love of romance and personal freedom. Those who have frequented the old auditorium for years, those from distant cities, and gatherings of the Metropolitan company itself watched the presentation, saw Julien before the dressmaking establishment of Louise lure her from home and family to the

Many Attend Capital City Supper-Dance

Following the brilliant performance of Charpentier's "Louise," the opening presentation by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the Atlanta auditorium, an elaborate supper-dance was held in the ballroom of the Capital City Club, assembling several hundred members of Atlanta's most exclusive society. Congenial parties were seated at individual tables, which had as the central decoration vari-colored baskets filled with pastel flowers, including peonies, sweet peas, roses and snapdragons.

Many prominent visitors who are in Atlanta attending the grand opera performances were honor guests at parties. Supper was served the guests at the tables at midnight, after which the tables were removed and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. The balconies in the ball room were decorated with smilax, palms and ferns, while other foliage plants were placed at intervals around the ball room. The chandeliers were decorated with garlands of smilax entwined with sprays of flowers.

Congenial Parties.

Parties Galore Will Honor Many Prominent Visitors

On Atlanta's second red letter day of grand opera, how fitting that the Metropolitan Company should choose to present Verdi's "Il Trovatore," one of the most popular operas in the repertoire! Many of the familiar arias are beloved by all music lovers and the tunes are hummed about the household. The cast includes the incomparable Rosa Ponselle; the renowned Italian dramatic tenor, Giovanni Martinelli; the prominent Italian baritone, Giuseppe Danise, and the charming Julia Claussen, contralto. With renewed pleasure, those who saw "Louise" last night will wend their way to the auditorium again tonight for another glorious songfest while those who are being "first nighters" will steep their souls in the atmosphere of romance and mystery of superb melody.

Innumerable parties, elaborate and formal, in keeping with the opera season, are arranged both before and after the performance, most of them being given in honor of the cast and out-of-town visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Britten, of Washington, D. C., the feted guests of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little, will be honored at a luncheon by Mrs. Robert Smythe at her home on Fifteenth street. Following the opera Mr. and Mrs. Little will compliment their guests at a supper at the Biltmore hotel. The Biltmore will also be the scene of a supper-dance honoring the opera stars and the annual opera supper-dance, always one of the most brilliant affairs of the opera season, will be held at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mrs. Lewis H. Beall will be hostess at a luncheon at the Driving Club and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morrell Atkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Dick will entertain at a garden party at their home, Mayfair, on Habersham way. Mr. and Mrs. Maya Badgett will entertain members of the Metropolitan orchestra at their home on Highland avenue. View following the opera, this being an annual custom of these Atlanta hosts, the event being one of the most outstanding events of the season.

Cascade Church To Sponsor School.

The Cascade M. E. church will sponsor a cooking school beginning May 5-9, inclusive, 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock at the church, corner Cascade avenue and Sophia place. Admission 25c per day. The class will be conducted by Mrs. A. P. Boardman, and everyone is invited. There is to be five splendid menus.

Mothers' Club To Give Party.

The Mothers' Club of Troop 6, of the Boy Scouts of America, will give an old-fashioned lawn party and ice cream festival together with a benefit bridge Friday evening at the home of Scout Marion Estes, at 632 Orme-wood avenue, S. E., at 7:30 o'clock, to raise funds for helping the boys of Troop 6 complete the building of their hut. A special program will be rendered by the Boy Scouts, among which will be an Indian prayer by Claude Leuke. Many other interesting stunts will be given by the boys. Music will be furnished by the Orpheus Concert orchestra and the Georgia Power Company's quartet. Ice cream and home-made cake will be served for a small fee. Card table tickets may be secured at the door or

Miss Van Hook To Lecture to College Park Club

College Park Woman's Club will feature an art lecture at its open meeting Wednesday, May 7. The arts and craft department will be in charge of the program and Mrs. P. J. Haden, chairman, will present Miss Lucile Van Hook, of New York and Atlanta, an artist of note, who has hung pictures in three separate galleries and had an exhibit at the Atlanta Biltmore last winter. Miss Van Hook has painted portraits of Governor Hardman and Mrs. Hardman, Dr. Thornehill Jacobs and Dr. Willis Sutton. She will give an illustrated lecture and at the same time sketch a plaque of Miss Mary Louise Palmour, winsome little daughter of Major and Mrs. Oscar Palmour, of College Park.

Mrs. W. W. Bateman, chairman of music, will present Mrs. W. S. Rosser, contralto, who will sing a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Aris Patterson. During the social half hour at the close of the program Mrs. R. B. Dodd and her social committee will act as hostesses and Mrs. W. E. Lotspeich will have on display a number of lovely hooked rugs. This is to be an open meeting, to which all are invited.

Anyone wishing to make reservations may do so by phoning Mrs. J. C. Cox, Main 4520-J. There will be prizes for each table. The public is cordially invited, especially the friends and parents of all Boy Scouts.

Beautiful Virginian Attends Grand Opera

Mrs. Leigh R. Powell, of Norfolk, Va., a beautiful visitor attending grand opera in Atlanta, and with her husband, Mr. Powell, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coverdale, of New York city, in their box at the presentation of Charpentier's "Louise," presented by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the auditorium last evening.

High Museum

Summer School

Interest Many

Classes for the summer school of the High Museum of Art, which will be held five days a week for six weeks beginning June 9, are filling rapidly. This school which will be offered to only a limited number will afford an opportunity to teachers who wish to continue their work and to students who are unable to take advantage of the winter term. Opportunities for specialization and choice of subject will be greater than in the winter school.

The instructors of the regular school of art, Benjamin Shute and Robert Rogers, will teach the classes. Both instructors are graduates of the Art Institute of Chicago, and have studied under Georgia Obersteuffer and Mrs. Obersteuffer and Allen Philbrick, noted painters and etchers. The courses offered will include outdoor painting, figure study, composition, design, still life and lettering.

The club has closed a successful year and Mrs. Roy G. Jones, president of the organization for 1929-1930, reports as follows: "We have just closed another busy year which has been characterized by the loyal support and thorough co-operation of officers, chairmen of committees and club members in general. Only through this co-operation and willingness to help has the club been able to accomplish the many and varied splendid results. The club has enjoyed a year of unusual prosperity. All notes have been promptly met as well as all local obligations, federation dues have been paid, repairs have been made to the building and new furnishings have been added. A birthday party was given recently, which celebrated the fifth anniversary of the organization. We express our appreciation to the various newspapers and to the local merchants and men of business who have helped in many ways. Also to the artists and organizations who have made it possible for us to enjoy many fine programs during the year. In closing the message Mrs. Jones expressed deep and sincere gratitude to one and all and pledged her loyal support to the new and able presiding officer and sincere good wishes for the coming year under the new administration."

Bohemian life of Paris. Longnettes were lifted and opera glasses were raised as the lovely Bori was crowned queen of the revels above low-lying Paris. A hush settled over the large gathering as the lovers, after separation, found themselves again alone in the hills.

Boxes Present Picture.

The horseshoe of boxes encircling the vast arena of the auditorium presented a veritable picture of the flower of southern society, the women arrayed in exquisite costumes augmented by magnificent jewels, their escorts being attired in the conventional black evening suit. Between acts, eyes and opera glasses were focused on the occupants of boxes, their appearance causing exclamations of admiration throughout the audience. Mrs. H. M. Atkinson's gown was fashioned of white chiffon embroidered in rhinestones; Mrs. Jackson Dick was gowned in Lucerne blue lace; Mrs. Robert F. Maddox was gowned in blue lace, veiling satin, and her wrap was of orchid velvet; Mrs. James D.

Mrs. Collingwood Tucker Is Charming Grand Opera Visitor

No more truly gifted entertainer has visited Atlanta than Mrs. Collingwood Tucker, of New York city, who is attending grand opera this season and is the guest of Miss Belle Woolford and her brother, Cator Woolford, at Jacquelin Lodge, their estate on Fonce de Leon avenue, in Druid Hills.

To Mrs. Tucker belongs the distinction of being the one person in this country who has seriously undertaken to preserve negro folk songs and one who is doing it in an indescribably charming way. Descended from a long line of southern ancestors, she has an understanding of the negro, and the environment in which he lived in the old south, which enables her to visualize intimate bits of the weird old spirituals. The service she is rendering to the American folk lore is the presentation of songs which were never heard outside of the environment of the camp meeting or work songs heard only in the cottonfields and canebrakes, and the quaint melodies and lullabies which came from the lips of the black mammy of old days. These spirituals were never written and were preserved as traditions, taught from one generation to another. That she heard them when the negro was unconscious of a listener is why these songs of Mrs. Tucker are so true to life and why they portray so faithfully that phase of the negro which is now only a memory. She has made records for the folk lore collection of Harvard University which will increase in value and significance with every passing year.

Mrs. Tucker, a slim, golden-haired woman, is especially gifted in entertaining. She has a sweet, flexible voice, a delicious sense of humor, and she possesses the charm of spontaneity and artistic conception. She knows hundreds of spiritual and plantation melodies which she clothes with clever stories and traditions. She has devoted years in an exhaustive research and study and popularizing of these old melodies in the sincere belief that some day they would be placed in the world's musical libraries as America's special contribution. Mrs. Tucker is unquestionably a musician who has made a special niche for herself in the music world.

Augusta Visitor Is Honored At Parties

Miss Sarah Alexander, of Augusta, who is the opera guest of her cousins, Miss Elizabeth Shewmake and Mrs. Rufus Thayer, was the honor guest at a tea given by her hostesses yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The daintily appointed tea table, was placed on the terrace overlooking the park and was decorated with a bowl of spring flowers in the pastel shades. The guests included a group of congenial friends.

Miss Alexander was also honored at an informal luncheon yesterday given by Mrs. Royal Daniel, Jr., at the Biltmore hotel.

Capt. and Mrs. Wheeler Entertain at Dinner.

Captain and Mrs. Jewett E. Wheeler entertained 35 guests at dinner last evening at Cascade terrace. Spring blossoms were used as the table decorations and a color scheme of pink and white was emphasized.

with ecru lace with long, flowing skirt and a corsage of orchids; Miss Virginia Manson Marshall wore a lovely model of red lace made on tight lines; her corsage was of white gardenias; Mrs. James A. Wood wore a gown of white lace made on long lines, tight waist and flared skirt and a corsage of roses.

Mrs. Lamar's Gown. Mrs. William Bailey Lamar was gowned in white lace, veiling white satin; Mrs. John T. Supper-Dance at Biltmore To Follow Opera, Il Trovatore

Following the opera performance, Il Trovatore, this evening, society will motor to the Biltmore hotel where for several hours opera stars, visitors and prominent Atlantans will dine and dance. Supper will be served at beautifully decorated tables placed in the ballroom, and dining room at either end of the long corridor and throughout the evening an orchestra will play dance music interspersed by familiar airs taken from the operas being presented in Atlanta. Several hundred reservations have been made for the occasion which is scheduled to be one of the most brilliant functions given in connection with Atlanta's grand opera season.

Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh will entertain in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Westbrook Daniel, who have recently moved to Atlanta from Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, Jr. The guest list includes Mr. and Mrs. Franklin S. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Snow, Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Holze, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydell, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Lowmeyer, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Livingston, Arthur Anderson and Howard C. Smith.

M. E. Olson will entertain Miss Bella Raines and William Lehmann, of Atlanta, and Miss Edith Moore, of Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Elsas Phillips will have as their guests Miss Lorna Fried, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hirsch and Richard Rich.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKee, of Columbus, will entertain a group of Atlanta friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Vol T. Blackhall will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. A. Schwartz.

J. E. Goodwin, of Aniston, will entertain a party of six.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitley, Jr., Miss Runa Erwin and Fred Ware will dine together.

Others having reservations for supper are Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Horwitz, B. H. Yarbrough and Neil Goodwin.

Junior League May Form Chapters in Other Lands

NEW YORK, May 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Robert L. Foreman and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., representatives of the Junior League of Atlanta, who are here for the tenth annual conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, were dinner guests tonight at the home of Mrs. Marshall Field, who entertained all the delegates from the Fourth League region, which includes the southern Atlantic states. These regional group dinners at the homes of prominent New York hostesses concluded the activities of the second day of the convention. Other hostesses who entertained tonight were: Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Harold I. Pratt, Mrs. Charles Sabin and Mrs. Edgar Leonard.

At an open forum today on board the S. S. Paris, where the delegates were the guests of the French Line, important league questions were talked over in open discussion and the suggestions made today will be presented to the delegates' business meeting tomorrow for action.

Perhaps the most important subject aired in the forum was the proposal to make of the league an international association, with chapters abroad as well as in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Mrs. Hugh Baldwin, of Columbus, Ohio, leader of the foreign policy discussion, said: "Our policy is that a group be appointed, composed of members of the United States, Canada and Mexico, which group shall be the nucleus of an international committee of admissions and arbitration. This group will be augmented by representatives of the different foreign countries as they are admitted to a future international association of the Junior Leagues. This committee shall deal only with international questions, such as admissions, transfers and any other international matters."

It was interesting to note that it seemed the wish of a majority of delegates that the membership of foreign chapters should not be made up of Americans living abroad, but should consist of natives of the countries in which the chapters are formed.

Another topic considered by the forum was the redistribution of geographical regions of the league. It was announced that some of the present regional areas were unwieldy and entailed high traveling expenses to members within these sections. A proposal which will be taken up at tomorrow's meeting suggests that the present number of seven regions be increased to ten.

When the question of publicity arose several delegates from widely scattered sections of the country told how their chapters managed to inform the public through the press and other channels of the purposes and activities of the league.

Tomorrow at New York League clubhouse and at the Hotel Barbizon meetings of the delegates and of the association board will be held. In the evening the delegates will be the dinner and theater guests of the hostesses with whom they have been staying for the duration of the convention.

Prisoners Transferred.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., May 1.—(P)—Warden Thomas B. White, of the federal penitentiary here, today announced the transfer of 45 prisoners, the first of a group of 250 to be sent to the Fort Riley, Kas., military reservation where they will be employed in labor gangs. The convicts were accompanied by prison guards who will remain with them at Fort Riley.

Adventures of Seckatary Hawkins

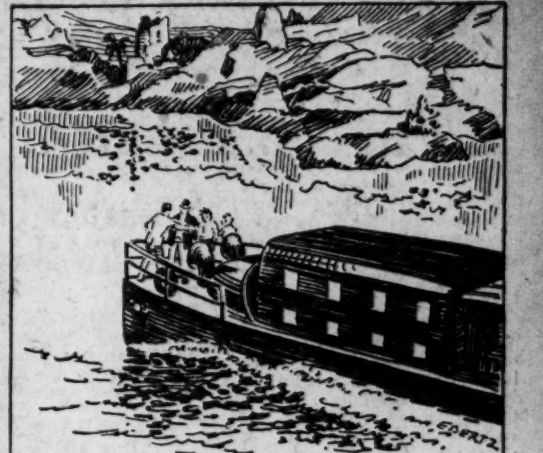

"WE WERE GOING BY THE CHART, WHICH SAID 'LOOK FOR THE BROWN MAN'S NECK!' HERE WE SAW BEFORE US A GREAT HUMAN HEAD CHISELED OUT OF THE ROCK THAT JUTTED OUT OVER THE BAY—BUT AS FOR THE NECK—ALAS! IT DIDN'T SEEM TO HAVE A NECK!"

"WELL, WHATEVER IS UNDER HIS HEAD WILL HAVE TO ANSWER FOR THE BROWN MAN'S NECK!" SAID LUCIO. "HOW DOES IT HAPPEN WE NEVER NOTICED THIS QUEER ROCK FORMATION BEFORE THIS? WE'VE BEEN DOWN HERE MANY TIMES BEFORE AND HAVEN'T SEEN IT—"

"YES, WE HAVE," SAID DOC WATERS. "BUT UNLESS YOU SEE THIS ROCK FROM A CERTAIN POINT, IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE A MAN'S HEAD AT ALL. LOOK AT IT NOW." OUR BOAT HAD TRAVELED DOWN THE BAY, AND AT THIS POINT THE ROCK LOOKED FLAT.

"BUT THERE ARE THE WATCH TOWER RUINS!" CRIED LUCIO, AND THE CHART SAYS THAT SOMEWHERE IN THOSE RUINS IS THE WAY TO BROWN MAN'S NECK AND—HIDDEN TREASURE. COME ON, EVERYBODY—LET'S GET OFF THIS BOAT AND SEARCH THE PLACE!"

IN THE BOXES

The boxes, magnificent horseshoe, reflecting brilliant gowns, gayly colored shawls and jewels, will attract the attention of opera-goers this evening at the performance of "Il Trovatore," the second of the grand opera productions of the 1930 season. The colorful array of flitting ballet dancers, gayly gowned opera stars, singing before elaborate settings, will be forgotten for a while between the acts while hundreds turn to observe those who each year take their places in this gay panorama offered by Atlanta music lovers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. White and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McHan will share a box.

Dr. and Mrs. James A. Wood will have with them in their box Dr. and Mrs. Charles Downman and Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Boynton.

J. J. Haverty and Miss May Haverty will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Haverty.

Sharing the box with Mr. and Mrs. William Akers will be Mrs. Carson Sewell, Mrs. Hamilton Hart, Mrs. Emogene Arley, Mrs. Bolling Sassnet and Mrs. Julian Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Dick and a group of the artists.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Jr., will occupy a box together at the performance of "Il Trovatore" this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Oglesby and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Witham will be the guests of Dr. Phinizy Calhoun in his box at the opera this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Britten, of Washington, D. C., who will be among the most important visitors here during opera season. Mr. Britten is chairman of the committee on naval affairs of the house of representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rich will have with them a group of out-of-town visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Payne and Mrs. Alex Smith will be among those seen in the boxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Marye and Judge and Mrs. Price Gilbert will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Candler Dobbs, Jr., will have as their guests Mrs. Mildred Dobbs Howard and Lawrence Tibbets.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Toy, Mr. and Mrs. Rockover Toy and Miss Mattie Slaton will be the guests of Mrs. William Bailey Lamar.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacDougald and Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacDougald will occupy a box together.

Mrs. J. J. Lynch will have as her guests Mrs. John Watt, Mrs. T. A. Lynch and Miss Catherine Lovett.

Mrs. William Barnes, of St. Augustine, Fla., will entertain a group of congenial friends.

Seated together will be Miss Bee Rich, Rudolph Adler, Miss Lorna Fried and Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs.

Mrs. E. A. Schiller will have as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Byron Akins and Mrs. DeWitt Norton.

Miss Sherman and Burwell Nolan Wed in Brunswick

BRUNSWICK, Ga., May 1.—The wedding of Miss Julia Morris Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwin Sherman, and Burwell Atkinson Nolan, formerly of Marietta, now of North Carolina, was quietly solemnized Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Richmond street. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Blevins, pastor of the First Methodist church, in the presence of members of the families, and a few friends. Roses, sweet peas, amaryllis and potted ferns, in effective arrangement, formed the artistic decorations of the home. The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, and the groom was attended by his brother, Dr. Tom Nolan, of Marietta, as best man.

The bride, who is an exceptionally beautiful girl of the blonde type, was very attractive in her traveling costume, a coat suit of mixed tweed and she carried a beautiful arm bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Nolan left by motor for their wedding trip. After two weeks they will go to High Point, N. C., to make their home.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sherman, is one of Brunswick's loveliest young girls. She is a graduate of Glynn Academy, and also attended Wesleyan College in Macon, and Breun Conservatory in Gainesville. The bride's parents are two of Brunswick's leading citizens, they being prominently connected with civic, social and business enterprises of the community.

Mrs. Sherman was Miss Julia Morris, of Augusta, before her marriage. The groom is the second son of Mrs. C. T. Nolan and the late Dr. Nolan, of Marietta, where he was born and reared. He is the grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Burwell Atkinson, pioneer and leading citizens of Camden county, whose ancestral home at "Inchachee" is one of the most beautiful spots in south Georgia. Following his graduation from high school, the groom attended the University of Georgia in Athens, where he was graduated, and is a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He now holds a responsible position with the Coca-Cola Company, headquarters of which is in Greensboro.

Among the out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were Mrs. C. T. Nolan, of Marietta, mother of the groom; Dr. Tom Nolan, of Marietta; Dr. and Mrs. Burwell Atkinson, Brunswick, Atkinson, Jr., and Mrs. Russell of Inchachee; and Ensign and Mrs. John Atkinson, of Waverly.

Smoot Will Hasten
Veteran Bill Action

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Chairman Smoot, of the senate finance committee, said today he would accelerate the progress of the veterans' bill, recently passed by the house, to the senate floor.

Smoot said he would make every effort to get it through the two committees which must pass on it before the senate begins consideration.

Director General Hines, of the Veterans bureau, called to give his views on the measure today before a subcommittee of the finance committee, estimated that the maximum cost of the bill to the government might be as much as $404,750,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Britten Honored At Series of Social Affairs

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Britten, of Washington, D. C., were honor guests at a dinner party last evening given by Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson at their home in Druid Hills. Bowls of spring flowers and gleaming crystal adorned the table, and following dinner the guests attended the performance of Verdi's opera, "Il Trovatore," sung at the auditorium by the Metropolitan Opera Company. Mr. and Mrs. Britten are spending the opera season as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little at their home in the Biltmore apartments.

Pastel pink peonies, culled from the gardens of Broadlands, the home of Mrs. Hugh Richardson, adorned the luncheon table, when Mrs. Richardson entertained yesterday in compliance to Mr. and Mrs. Britten, distinguished visitors from the national capital. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Britten, Mr. and Mrs. Little,

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Atkinson, Judge and Mrs. Price Gilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson.

Senators Prove Able To Master Phones

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(UN)—Senators believe that famous slogan that "old dogs can't learn new tricks," according to the girls from the local telephone company, who started Wednesday to teach senators to use the new "dial" phones.

"They are very adept at learning," said Mildred Tydings and Dorothy Lemon, two of the girls who spent all day teaching the senators how to work the new phones.

Beauty-wise Women say—

"this trusted tonic bleach both restores and keeps the skin exquisitely white, petal-smooth—lovely."

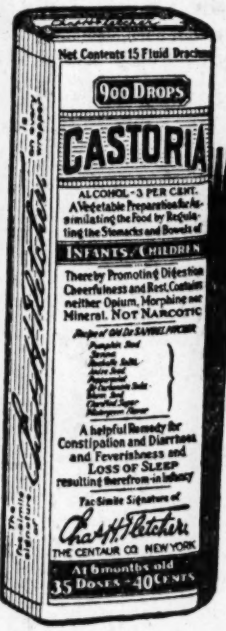

EXPERT beauty advisers in the famous stores over the country tell us that Nadinola Bleaching Cream has proven marvelously successful, time after time, in making the skin alluringly white, satin-smooth—beautiful. The thousands of beauty-wise women who have used it have forgotten what it is to have sallowness, washed-out, freckled, uninviting skin.

Just before you retire tonight, smooth over your skin a little of this rich, fragrant cream. Instantly you feel its tonic effect as your sluggish skin tissues are aroused to action. It brings whiteness and velvety-smoothness up from underneath the darkened, weather-roughened surface. You see your skin growing whiter, smoother, more lovely—all trace of tan, freckles, muddy sallowness faded out. Even pimples, roughness and redness gently cleared away. Nadinola Bleaching Cream works mildly and gently, yet quickly and surely. So gentle is its action it can't harm even the most delicate skin. Written, money-back guarantee, together with simple directions, in every package. Begin using Nadinola tonight—at all toilet counters, 50c; extra large economy size, $1. If you cannot buy Nadinola where you live, write National Toilet Co., Paris, Tenn. Beauty booklet and dainty gift sample free on request.

Whitens, Clears and Beautifies the Skin

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation, to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so. You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

"I have used a good deal of your medicine and always find it gives wonderful help. I was feeling so weak and miserable that I had to lie down very often and I could hardly do my housework. I read in the paper how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped other women who were in the same condition so I said I will try it for myself. I am very much better now and I recommend this medicine."—Mrs. J. W. Albertson.

Driving Club Supper-Dance Given Tonight

Following the presentation of Verdi's "Il Trovatore," by the Metropolitan Opera Company, the Piedmont Driving Club will entertain with the annual supper-dance given in compliance to the opera stars and visitors in Atlanta for the opera season.

This is always one of the most anticipated affairs of the year, and many congenial parties have been formed for the evening. The rooms of the club will be decorated with a profusion of dainty spring blossoms and the dancing will take place on the terrace.

Rosa Ponselle, Julia Clausen, Minnie Egan, Giovanni Martinelli, Giuseppe Danise, Pavel Lindner, Giordano Patrino, and Alfredo Gandolfi are among the artists who will be among those appearing at this interesting party.

Miss Katherine Howell, Miss Claire Hannah, Miss Virginia Courts, Miss Marion Wolff, Miss Catherine Norcross, Buster Bird, Jimmy Calhoun, Walter Cowles, Richard Hull and Burman McGeehee will form a party.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Dobbs, Jr., Mrs. Charlotte Meador Fletcher, Chester Booth Blakeman and Lawrence Tibbett will be together.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Montgomery, Dr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Gay and Mr. and Mrs. Robin Adair will dine together.

Mrs. Mildred Dobbs Howard, Mrs. Obie McKenzie Black, of Thomaston, Stewart Bird and Lauren Foreman will form a party.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pew, Wellborn Cody, Miss Elizabeth Dobbs and Joseph Walker will be together.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Mangham, Miss Ida Sadler, Seaton Bailey and Tilman Blakeley, of Griffin, will be together.

Mr. and Mrs. William Akers will have as their guests for the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ramspeck, Mr. and Mrs. Bona Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Klatt Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Penino, of Havana, and J. P. Peacock.

With Frank Harold will be Charles Teller, Miss Helen Cody, Miss Mary Middleton, Miss Mildred Roberts, of Savannah; Dan Conklin and Price Gilbert.

Mrs. Strupper and Mrs. Estes Are Honor Guests at Luncheon

Mrs. Charles C. McGeehee and Mrs. Charles C. McGeehee, Jr., were hostesses yesterday afternoon at one of the most elaborate and interesting parties of the week when they entertained at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club in honor of Mrs. George H. Estes, wife of General Estes, commanding officer of Fort McPherson, and Mrs. Everett Strupper, Jr., of Columbus.

Tall palms banded in pyramids decorated the ballroom and the individual tables at which the guests were seated were attractively arranged with May Day baskets of spring, pink roses, tulips, irises and other colorful spring flowers. Forming a circle were smaller baskets tied with tulle bows and filled with pastel-shaded spring blossoms. More than 100 guests enjoyed the hospitality of the hostesses on this occasion.

Mrs. McGeehee was gowned in a black chiffon ensemble with a black hat and Mrs. McGeehee, Jr., wore a hyacinth blue chiffon with hat to match. Mrs. Estes' gown was of blue figured silk with a matching hat and Mrs. Strupper wore an ensemble of blue crepe and chiffon with accessories to match.

Tech High at Boys' High.
Russell at G. M. A.
Commercial at Marist.
Decatur at University.
Fulton vs. Bye.

By Roy White.

Tech High and Boys' High at 3 o'clock at Piedmont Park is the main event for prep baseball fans today in the feature of a quartet of games. Decatur will play University a return game at Piedmont, while Commercial will play Marist on the Ivy street diamond and G. M. A. will entertain Russell on the College Park campus.

There is more interest in the Tech High-Boys' High game than ever before. Tech High won the first meeting of the two in the second game of the season, due to the brilliant pitching of John Chambers, who gave the Hurricane only one hit. Booty McClellan faced him and was knocked all over the lot.

Since that game, B. Baldwin, Boys' High first baseman, has been protested and at a recent league meeting, the protest was upheld by a committee. Boys' High officials, failing to have the action of the committee rescinded, then carried the case to W. A. Alexander, arbiter of the league, for final settlement. Arguments in the case have been forwarded to Coach

Busting Into Baseball

Adolfo Luque "Just Happened" Into Baseball in America After Cuban Start.

By Adolfo Luque,
(As Told to John F. McCann.)

I began playing baseball while attending school in Havana, in Cuba, where throughout the island the kids are more interested in baseball than even the kids in the United States, and took up pitching when I believed I could do it a little better than any of the other boys.

I do not know really how it happened that I came to the United States to play ball. One day in Havana some man asked me how I'd like to pitch for the Long Branch (N. J.) team and I signed the contract. I do not know who the man was, but presumed he was a scout or some baseball man on a visit to Havana, my home town. This was in 1913.

The following year I was sold to the Boston Nationals, and became a big leaguer, hardly knowing or understanding what it meant to go to the major league. I failed to make good with the Braves, who sent me to the Jersey City team, of the International league, and the next year I again went back to the Boston club, and then played later with Toronto and Louisville.

For two years I was with the Louisville American Association, and a year later joined the Cincinnati Reds to stay ever since. I always pitched my own way, but as far as knowing how I happened to break into baseball in the United States I do not know. Whoever the man was that signed me to a contract in Havana is responsible for it, and surely proved to be a good friend.

Bainbridge, Albany To Play 2 Games

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., May 1.—Bainbridge's two-game series with Albany's Indians with the first one Friday, will start at 1 o'clock, because of having to clear the grounds for the decorating committee of the May Day festival that will be given that evening at 8 o'clock. The Saturday afternoon game will be called at 3 o'clock.

Bainbridge tied Quittman in the last engagement with that team and has defeated Albany, so the games Friday and Saturday afterwards are being keenly anticipated here, as to the ultimate result with the Indians, of Albany.

MRS. WILLIAMS GRABS A. W. G. A. TOURNEY TITLE

Close Play Features First, Second Flight Finals at East Lake.

Mrs. T. T. Williams, Mrs. S. T. Gillard and Mrs. E. C. Moore were winners Thursday morning on the East Lake course in the finals of the regular match play tournament of the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association. Mrs. Williams defeated Mrs. C. G. Smith, 1 up, for the championship of the first flight. Mrs. Gillard defeated Mrs. H. T. Maloney, 1 up, on the 19th green, for the second flight title, and Mrs. Moore defeated Mrs. John Wilkerson, 8-7, for the third flight title.

The matches in the first and second flights were unusually close, particularly after the 10th hole. In the championship flight, Mrs. Williams gave Mrs. Smith three strokes and the last of the strokes was used on the 10th green to square the match. They played on even terms until the 17th, when Mrs. Williams with a good drive and good approach won the hole. The 18th was squared, giving Mrs. Williams a one-hole advantage.

Mrs. Williams shot an 88 and Mrs. Smith had a 91, which was unusually good scores for both players.

In the second flight match, Mrs. Gillard gave Mrs. Maloney three strokes and Mrs. Maloney used the last handicap stroke to square the match on the 10th green, the same as was the case in the first flight. Mrs. Maloney won the 11th, Mrs. Gillard halved it on the 12th, Mrs. Maloney won the 13th, the 14th was halved and Mrs. Gillard squared the match on the 15th. Mrs. Maloney won the 16th and the match was squared on the 17th and the 18th was halved. Mrs. Gillard won on the 19th with a total of 104 strokes. It was one of the best matches of the tournament.

In the third flight match, Mrs. Moore gave Mrs. Wilkerson 13 strokes and by a steady, consistent game easily won out, 8-7.

The play Thursday was the best in the tournament, with all six players playing a steady, consistent game. Very few inaccurate shots were made. The majority of the drives were straight down the fairway.

The SPORTLIGHT Grantland Rice

Two years ago Lou Gehrig was about the only slugger who could give the Babe a scramble down the stretch when it came to home run hitting, but conditions are entirely different now.

More than one or two of the boys have been taking a toe hold lately and letting nature take its course. The Babe's list of rivals now includes Simmons, Jackson, Ott, Wilson, Klein, Gehrig, Foxx, Herman and two or three others.

Two of his most dangerous rivals will be Ott and Klein. They are both young, strong and ambitious. Last season they ran their two strings out beyond 40, and that is at least par in the art of lifting one over the barricade. Both have the knack of timing down to a fine point and there is a chance that one of the two may lift his count to 50, in which case the Babe can waste precious little time adjusting his range for the top of the stands.

This job of fighting off youth gets harder every year. And one of the main reasons is that youth has an easier time keeping in shape, retaining the needed elasticity from day today.

Hospital Reports.

The latest news from Rochester, Minn., now one of the headquarters of sport, is all on the cheerful side.

The first item is that Jack Dempsey will leave in much better shape than when he arrived and that Knute Rockne will report to South Bend in about a week or ten days to supervise the final stages of Notre Dame's spring practice.

What Dempsey is going to do with his improved condition is now known only to Jack, but if Schmeling beats Sharkey there is at least an even chance that the mauler will step into action once more and let two or three fast ones fly from the starting point of a left hook.

Knute Rockne reports that he is feeling better now than in many months. For one thing the doctors discovered a tooth with enough poison in its roots to wreck a rhinoceros. The elimination of this tooth started Rockne back on the road to health.

Notre Dame has a schedule next fall hard enough to break rock, and Rockne wants to be sure the squad closes out its spring work with every detail thoroughly carried out. There will be no time to waste next fall with a schedule that starts with Southern Methodist and never gets any easier.

The world's old problem as to what should be done with its used safety razor blades has now been increased—i. e.—What is to be done with its Carnera?

Italy is planning to send over another man mountain, but this time his seconds will all be searched for concealed towels.

Me and My Rival.

I give my sliced shot "too much cut,"
You make a raw, plain bobble;
I always hole a good, long putt,
You get a lucky gobble.
I played to skim the pond or cliff,
But you are just a lucky stiff.

It is reported that Carnera will return to Italy and open a laundry. Who wants to be the first customer to drop in with a bundle of towels?

Yale and Columbia.

Last year Yale beat Harvard and Columbia won at Poughkeepsie. Columbia finished the year with the best crew on any water. Tomorrow they meet again and young Dick Glendon once more will be called on to face an Ed Leader output of blue oarsmen.

Rusty Callow, another Washington director, will be on hand with Pennsylvania. Columbia was fast enough last week to outrun a high-class Navy crew, but Yale at this next start may be even more of a job.

Columbia hasn't been doing as well this week as Glendon hoped for. He has another fine crew, but he isn't any too confident that it is good enough to beat Yale. Which recalls the fact that the average of crew coaches along the line of all-around ability is about as high today as anything sport can show.

The Jones Schedule.

A large number of words have been put out concerning Bobby Jones' European schedule, but this is the competitive plot he gave me just before sailing—

- 1—Send his team against an Oxford-Cambridge side for a workout.
- 2—The Walker cup matches at Sandwich around the middle of May.
- 3—Move on to St. Andrews and tackle the British amateur championship for the third time late in May.
- 4—Play for the London golf illustrated vase at Sunningdale early in June.
- 5—Visit France, Italy and possibly Germany for short rest from golf.
- 6—Return to Hoylake for British open, which starts June 19, the qualifying rounds coming shortly before.

He will get back just about in time to start for the United States open at Interlachen, Minneapolis. Which is proof enough that competitive golf cuts at times into one's afternoons.

Leo Diegel will have one of the keenest rooters in Great Britain. He may not carry the galleries that Jones and Horton Smith take along, but he will have at least one supporter supplying the enthusiasm. His name is Douglas Fairbanks, now in a triple tie for being the most rabid golf fanatic between Hollywood and the Firth of Clyde.

Maxie Rosenbloom will now attempt to outcuff Jimmy Slattery, but the Buffalo boxer is a different proposition. Slattery also has a fast pair of hands that he can throw in various directions, and they carry more steam than Rosenbloom can hook to either glove.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 10 points up to 15.90.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP)—Early

advances on continued covering by near month shorts were followed by reactions in cotton today. May contracts, after selling up to 16.50, or 23 points net higher, reacted to 16.38 under realizing, while the near October sold off from 14.90 to 14.60 and closed at that figure. May closed at 14.40, or 11 points up from the lowest and 13 points net higher, with the general market closing steady net 13 points higher to 18 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 11 points, with the advance soon extending to 16.71 for July or 22 points net higher, while near December sold up to 15.03 during the early trading, or about 13 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Houses with European connections were buyers of near months against sales of later deliveries, presumably to transfer hedges, and there seemed to be some buying of May against sales of July by local interests.

New crop months were very slow to follow the advance, owing to a favorable view of present crop progress in the south and widening of the difference between near and late months seemed to bring in some realizing in July. The demand tapered off and there was a reaction in the early afternoon, which carried July off to 16.47, or 2 points net lower, and near December to 14.71, making a net decline of 13 points.

Near months showed rallies of 11 to 13 points at the close on renewed covering, but later deliveries closed at about the lowest prices of the day. The closing quotations for May were 11 points under July and 183 under the near October.

At the close of Liverpool the July quotation there was 17 American points under the New York, and this difference seemed to have a tendency to check the demand for July here. A private report pointing to a decrease of 10 to 15 points in the near October was published during the day, but stated that correspondents expected a reduction of about 9 per cent in the use of fertilizer, and appeared to be without much effect upon the immediate market. Liverpool reported covering and trade called in that market, but said Manchester was perturbed by threats from India that existing contracts for shipment of cotton goods might be cancelled. Exports today, 5,830 bales, making 6,203,577 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,964. United States port stocks, 1,657,650.

SPOTS IRREGULAR AT NEW ORLEANS.

AT NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—(AP)—

Trading in cotton was not particularly active today and prices were erratic and irregular. After a slight early reaction prices advanced on a renewal of covering by spot interests who bought the old crop months which advanced 19 to 21 points. On the other hand near crop months were comparatively easy. After a slight advance to 16.10 and closed at 16.25, or 13 points net higher. The general market closed steady net 14 points up to 17 down.

Liverpool cables were unfavorable but first trades there showed gains of 2 to 10 points. After a small reaction due to realizing, a good trade demand developed for May and June and May advanced to 16.22 and July to 16.33 or 19 to 21 points above the previous close. October was under pressure and advanced only 8 points to 14.92.

Around midsection realizing by trailers and selling by ring scalpers caused a reaction. Before the offerings were absorbed May traded down to 16.00, July to 16.10 and October to 14.68 or 22 to 24 points down from the highs. The market continued easy most of the afternoon and October made a new low at 14.58, down 27 points from the highs. There was a rally of 15 to 18 points from lows on covering at the end, old crop months showing net gains of 13 to 14 points and new crops net losses of 9 to 17 points.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 10 points up to 15.90.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP)—Early

advances on continued covering by near month shorts were followed by reactions in cotton today. May contracts, after selling up to 16.50, or 23 points net higher, reacted to 16.38 under realizing, while the near October sold off from 14.90 to 14.60 and closed at that figure. May closed at 14.40, or 11 points up from the lowest and 13 points net higher, with the general market closing steady net 13 points higher to 18 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 11 points, with the advance soon extending to 16.71 for July or 22 points net higher, while near December sold up to 15.03 during the early trading, or about 13 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Houses with European connections were buyers of near months against sales of later deliveries, presumably to transfer hedges, and there seemed to be some buying of May against sales of July by local interests.

New crop months were very slow to follow the advance, owing to a favorable view of present crop progress in the south and widening of the difference between near and late months seemed to bring in some realizing in July. The demand tapered off and there was a reaction in the early afternoon, which carried July off to 16.47, or 2 points net lower, and near December to 14.71, making a net decline of 13 points.

Near months showed rallies of 11 to 13 points at the close on renewed covering, but later deliveries closed at about the lowest prices of the day. The closing quotations for May were 11 points under July and 183 under the near October.

At the close of Liverpool the July quotation there was 17 American points under the New York, and this difference seemed to have a tendency to check the demand for July here. A private report pointing to a decrease of 10 to 15 points in the near October was published during the day, but stated that correspondents expected a reduction of about 9 per cent in the use of fertilizer, and appeared to be without much effect upon the immediate market. Liverpool reported covering and trade called in that market, but said Manchester was perturbed by threats from India that existing contracts for shipment of cotton goods might be cancelled. Exports today, 5,830 bales, making 6,203,577 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,964. United States port stocks, 1,657,650.

SPOTS IRREGULAR AT NEW ORLEANS.

Trading in cotton was not particularly active today and prices were erratic and irregular. After a slight early reaction prices advanced on a renewal of covering by spot interests who bought the old crop months which advanced 19 to 21 points. On the other hand near crop months were comparatively easy. After a slight advance to 16.10 and closed at 16.25, or 13 points net higher. The general market closed steady net 14 points up to 17 down.

Liverpool cables were unfavorable but first trades there showed gains of 2 to 10 points. After a small reaction due to realizing, a good trade demand developed for May and June and May advanced to 16.22 and July to 16.33 or 19 to 21 points above the previous close. October was under pressure and advanced only 8 points to 14.92.

Around midsection realizing by trailers and selling by ring scalpers caused a reaction. Before the offerings were absorbed May traded down to 16.00, July to 16.10 and October to 14.68 or 22 to 24 points down from the highs. The market continued easy most of the afternoon and October made a new low at 14.58, down 27 points from the highs. There was a rally of 15 to 18 points from lows on covering at the end, old crop months showing net gains of 13 to 14 points and new crops net losses of 9 to 17 points.

Another surprise, marketwise, was the $37,000,000 gain in brokers' loans to a total of $4,274,000,000, which contrasts with $5,532,000,000 at this time a year ago. In view of the rather steady decline in prices during the past week, Wall Street generally had expected the loan figures would show a decrease.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 41

Tarzan, the mighty jungle creature, lay helpless and bound at the feet of La the High Priestess. "To-morrow, in the face of the flaming God," she cried, "La will offer up the heart of this defiler of the temple. Where is the sacred knife?" No one had seen the sacrificial weapon upon Tarzan's person when they captured him. The ape-man looked upon the menacing creatures which surrounded him and smiled his defiance. He looked upon the beautiful La, and smiled.

"Where is the knife?" La asked him. "I do not know," replied Tarzan. "The man took it with him when he slipped away during the night. Of what good was your knife? You can make another. Did you follow us all this way for nothing more than knife? Let me go and find him, and I will bring it back to you." La laughed a bitter laugh. In her heart she saw that Tarzan's aim was greater than the purloining of the sacrificial knife; he had dared to spurn her love. That was worse.

Inflexible remained her determination to make him pay in suffering. "All night I shall torture him," she muttered to her priests, "and at the first streak of dawn prepare the flaming altar." During the balance of the day the priests of Opur busied themselves erecting it, and while they worked they chanted weird hymns in the ancient tongue of that lost continent that lies at the bottom of the Atlantic. And in the shelter of the hut, La paced to and fro beside the stoic ape-man.

Resigned to his fate was Tarzan. In the face of death he was unafraid. No hope of succor gleamed through the dead black of the death sentence hanging over him. He had strained his giant muscles ineffectually at the many strands that bound him. There was no hope. Yet he continued to smile at La as she paced nervously back and forth before him. And La? She fingered her knife and looked down upon her captive. But she did not strike. Conflicting emotions smote her breast.

Appeal To Be Made Today For Police Radio Station

Equipment of Atlanta borough and Fulton county machines with receiving sets and establishment of a short wave length sending station in the fight against crime will come before the finance committee of council at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Every one of the five members of the police committee of council headed by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, chairman, will be present to urge the finance body to provide sufficient funds with which to purchase equipment.

Fulton county commissioners also have been invited to attend the session in order that the municipality and the county can cooperate in their efforts to curb lawlessness through installation of the latest known scientific method of apprehension of law breakers.

At the same time, members of the police committee will urge that the finance committee set up sufficient funds with which to purchase 16 new police automobiles and a new patrol wagon to replace 16 machines now in service which have been condemned.

Many cities throughout the nation have found radio sets of great value in ready apprehension of law-breakers. The system is operated from the sending station, with the receiving sets mounted in the police cruisers, as the machines in which the receivers are installed are called. The sets are tuned in with the police sending station and the dials locked so that the police departments' station cannot be tuned out.

The machines then cruise over a certain radius. When a telephone call telling of a robbery or some other form of lawlessness is received, it is transmitted immediately to the radio sending station and announced to the cruisers. Within 20 seconds from the time the call is received, at the headquarters, it should be heard by the policemen in the cruiser. Many times, according to authorities, arrests are made within a few seconds of the time the call is flashed.

Final Steinheimer Rites This Morning

Final tribute will be paid to David Steinheimer, citizen of Atlanta since 1865 and a founder of the Hebrew Benevolent Congregation, at 10 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Sam H. Greenberg & Co., with Dr. David Marx officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Steinheimer, one of Atlanta's pioneer citizens, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Bauer, 982 Virginia avenue, N. E., about 2 o'clock Thursday morning, after a brief illness. He was very active in business and fraternal circles until a short time before his death and despite his advanced age, the end came unexpectedly.

He was born in Ichenhausen, Germany, August 28, 1838, and came to Atlanta 65 years ago, where he was identified in the cigar business for many years. He was an honorary life member of the Fulton lodge of Masons; a founder, charter member and life member of the Hebrew Benevolent Congregation. He was known to his wide circle of friends as "Uncle Dave."

He is survived by two sons, Morris Steinheimer, of Atlanta, and Lawrence Steinheimer, of Savannah, and five daughters, Mrs. Henry Bauer, Mrs. Walter Visanska, Mrs. Milton Oelsner, Mrs. Addie Steinheimer and Miss Clara Steinheimer, all of Atlanta. The pallbearers will be Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, William Bauer, Dr. S. A. Visanska, Raphael Frank, Bruno Bukoszer, Henry Cohen, Herman Cronheim, Adolph Wolf, Nathan Salzman, Albert Fox, Jacob Eisenman, Herbert J. Rosenberg, Louis Moss, Sam M. Carson and Marcus Loeb.

Final Rites Today For Miss Rhodes

Services for Miss Josephine Dodd Rhodes, 17, who died at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rhodes, of 1277 Sells avenue, S. W., Wednesday afternoon after a brief illness since Christmas, will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the Gordon Street Baptist church with the Rev. W. H. Faust officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Miss Rhodes was one of the most popular students of Girls' High school and in addition to her parents she is survived by two brothers, Warren and Philip Rhodes.

DIXIE PRESBYTERIANS RECOVER OLD PAPER

Original of Southern Church Declaration of Independence Found at Spartanburg.

RICHMOND, Va., May 1.—(AP)—Unseen since 1904, the original of the 88-year-old Declaration of Independence of the seceding southern Presbyterian churches, has been found in a bank vault at Spartanburg, S. C. Although believed to be in existence, the document has been lost to the archives of the Southern Presbyterian church for more than a quarter century and was recently made the object of a search under direction of R. E. Magill, secretary of the church education and publications committee.

It was announcing its discovery, among the personal papers of the late Rev. Thomas H. Laws, of Spartanburg, S. C., one-time secretary of the church, that the document was discovered by John Laws, a banker at Spartanburg and son of the deceased minister, uncovered it at Mr. Magill's instigation. Enclosed in a metal cylinder in which it was placed by the Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, father of Woodrow Wilson and clerk of the first southern church assembly, the declaration is in a perfect state of preservation. It had been handed down by clerks of the assembly since Wilson's time and reached Mr. Laws' hands from his predecessor. Indirectly, he failed to turn it over to his successor, Mr. Magill said.

The declaration is an affirmation of the principle of separation of church and state. Ninety-three ministers and elders signed it at a time when the question of slavery was splitting the country, the southern Presbyterians maintaining that slavery was a matter which concerned the state alone.

The document was drafted at Augusta, Ga., by Dr. James H. Woodrow, pastor of a Presbyterian church at Columbia, S. C., and for whom Woodrow Wilson was named. It was signed December 4, 1861, by Dr. B. M. Palmer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New Orleans, moderator of the assembly, and other delegates from the seceding states.

At Charlottesville, Va., on May 22, in the church whose pastor, James H. Woodrow, was the author of the document, photostatic copies of the paper will be presented to all members of the current general assembly. Also the question of unification of the northern and southern and a group of independent and reformed Presbyterian churches will again be discussed.

The surviving signer is the Rev. C. R. Petrie, D. D., 92 years old.

Committee Approves Shoals Lease Plan

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Action of the principal provisions of the Reice plan to authorize the leasing of Muscle Shoals to private interests was given today by the House committee on public lands, although formal action was delayed pending perfection of the language of the legislation.

Representative Reice, republican, Tennessee, chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the plan, said he expected the measure to be formally reported either Saturday or Monday as an amendment to the Norris resolution to provide for government operation recently passed by the senate. The committee expects to bring the proposal up for early action in the house. Upon passage it would go to conference.

The measure carries no provision for government operation, but would authorize the president to appoint a board of three members to negotiate a lease or leases for 50 years for the $160,000,000 project with the proviso that they complete Cove Creek dam in Tennessee. The estimated cost of the Cove Creek dam is $17,000,000.

A recapture clause would be operative in event the project is needed by the government in war time, or the lessees fail to fulfill their obligations. The proposal also expresses the government's policy on the manufacture of fertilizer and the distribution of power among the nearby states.

Asserting that the measure undoubtedly would meet with executive approval, Reice said that he believed it had a good chance for passage at this session of congress. He said it had been drawn along lines suggested by President Hoover in his annual message to congress.

PAL OF "BUFFALO BILL" DIES AFTER OPERATION

KINGSBURG, Cal., May 1.—(AP)—William Sheldon Fitch, 91, friend of William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," died here yesterday following an operation. He was born at McCook, Neb.

Fitch took part in several Indian battles where the town of McCook now stands and in many other places in the plains.

Among surviving relatives is a son, Frank Fitch, of Tallahassee, Fla.

One Man Injured In Jam of Cars

Four men riding on the same motorcycle, became wedged between a street car and an automobile at Peachtree street, became jammed at Cain street, and while three escaped injury, one suffered a fractured right leg, a broken finger on his left hand and possible internal injuries, according to a police report by Call Officers R. E. Floyd and R. L. Mosley, who investigated.

The accident occurred when all three vehicles, headed north on Peachtree street, became jammed at Cain street. Names of the driver of the car and of the motorcycle were not learned.

The injured man was J. B. Fincher, 1250 Oak Grove avenue. He was taken to a private hospital. His three companions were G. O. Damm, Tom Bradley and W. E. Downing, all of 1203 North avenue, N. E.

Mrs. A. F. Rogers, of 442 Hammond street, was another victim of an accident Thursday night. She was bruised and cut about the right hip and arm when struck down at the corner of Peters and Parks streets by a car driven by W. W. Fain, of 198 Washington street, according to a police report by Patrolman N. E. Nolan. Mrs. Rogers was treated at Grady hospital and allowed to return to her home. No case was made against Fain.

Buying Coal Out of Season Is a Paying Investment

Coal is one commodity it's more advantageous to buy out of season than when needed. It neither depreciates nor deteriorates while stored in your bin, and summer prices are so materially reduced.

Coal producers, to avoid the labor problem of abandoning the mines at the close of the house-heating season in Spring, maintain operation throughout summer at bare production costs.

Consequently, the price of coal from the mines is substantially lowered—enabling a corresponding reduction to the consumer. And, a timely tip for your information: Spring prices are usually lower than summer reductions.

So the earlier you order, the greater the saving. It's a decided advantage to secure next winter's fuel supply now—while prices are lowest.

Telephone us for the new prices on coal or coke. Special terms of payment may be arranged.
